More Council Action Likely
City Will Stay Alert
On Removal of Viaduct

Kingston will remain alert to press for all possible early state action to get rid of the Washington Avenue viaduct bottleneck, it was indicated today, after Thursday's public hearing revealed again that the decadent structure can be eliminated as a state public works project.

C. K. Bartholomew, an associate civil engineer, State Department of Public Works, noted that the state now "has the right" but does not yet have "the responsibility" to eliminate the traffic hazard.

If made officially a state project before or at the time of its removal, he said, it will be dealt with as a full state highway project. Otherwise proceedings would be in accordance with provisions of the Railroad Law, which would provide that the

Thruway Toll Is
50 PC Over 1958
On Travel Autos

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Toll revenue from passenger cars using the New York State Thruway is running nearly 50 per cent ahead of 1958 levels.

The tolls paid by motorists were raised 3-10 of a cent a mile last Jan. 1 to an average rate of 1.56 cents a mile. This resulted in the sharp increase in revenue.

The State Thruway Authority reported today that passenger-car drivers paid $23,635,366 in tolls for the first nine months of this year, compared with $15,896,062 in the corresponding period last year.

The authority gave these other comparisons between the period Jan. 1 to Sept. 30 of 1959 and the same months of 1958:

Total revenue from tolls and concessions: Up to $36,712,600 this year from $33,178,242 last year.

Commercial revenues: Up to $8,874,240 this year from $6,347,136 last year.

The authority said 1958 revenues also were swelled by $3,082,218 collected on the Berkshire, Niagara and New England sections, which were not open at this time a year ago.

Route 28; Cairo By-Pass
Low Bids Total $1,332,856

Low bids submitted to the State Department of Public Works for projects on Route 28 near the Thruway interchange here, and construction of the Cairo by-pass in Greene County were opened Thursday at Albany. The two low bids totaled $1,332,856.95.

Highway Protection Corp., Chicago, Ill., submitted a low bid of $45,805 for the installation of traffic signs and roadside delineators along the new 1.39-mile four-lane connection under construction from the Thruway interchange south on the new location to Albany Avenue and Broadway. Six bids were received.

A Fulton County firm, B. Williams Delia of Northville submitted a low bid of $1,287,051.95 for construction of the 3.42-mile long Cairo by-pass, and 40-miles of access roads in Greene County.

The bid includes work starting on Route 23 and 145, a half-mile east of the eastern Route 32 intersection, east of Cairo, and extending around Cairo on new location to the north, terminating on Route 23 about three-tenths of a mile west of its intersection with Route 145, west of Cairo. Seven bids were received.

The new highway will have four concrete traffic lanes—two in each direction—separated by a center wall. It will cross Bross Street, Route 32, and Route 145 at grade, and Jerome Avenue and the Shingle Kill creek on a new two-span 167½-foot long bridge. Connections will be built to existing Route 23, 32 and 145. Included will be construction

Parliament Votes
For De Gaulle's
Algerian Policy

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's peace plan for rebellious Algeria won overwhelming parliamentary approval today after Premier Michel Debre expressed confidence that France will not let go of the North African territory for generations to come.

Winding up a bitter three-day debate in the National Assembly, Debre countered right-wing cries that De Gaulle was giving away Algeria by declaring that any Algerian move to secede from France would be beaten "once and for all."

A threatened revolt against the government failed to materialize. The National Assembly in the early morning hours voted 441-23 to give De Gaulle a free hand to end the five-year rebellion. Eighty-five members abstained or were not present.

De Gaulle on Sept. 16 promised Algeria three choices—integration with France, home rule in association with France, or independence, though he admitted he was opposed to independence.

Debre did not go back on this offer, but he promised that "no force will be withdrawn."

"We must succeed by pacification," the Premier declared. "Pacification" is the word the French use for their military measures against the rebels.

Napanoch Operation Upheld
By State; Charges Denied

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—An investigation prompted by a labor union's complaints shows that the Eastern Correctional Institution for Mental Defectives at Napanoch is administered efficiently, Gov. Rockefeller's secretary says.

Council 50, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, complained to Rockefeller Sept. 9 that Supt. Charles McKendrick had been coddling prisoners and had shown favoritism to some employees and malice to others. The union called for McKendrick's ouster.

The institution houses about 1,000 male convicts. There was a danger some of them might riot, the union contended.

William D. Ronan, the governor's secretary, said in a report Thursday the institution is "efficiently administered in accordance with sound penal and correctional practices."

"The evidence obtained overwhelmingly contradicted the charges," he added.

Ronan said his findings were based on a personal inspection of the institution, interviews and sworn testimony from the supervisory force at the institution.

4 Reported Dead
In Fiery Crash
Of B52, Tanker

HARDINSBURG, Ky. (AP)—A nuclear-armed B52 bomber and its refueling tanker collided Thursday night in a fiery blast which lit the sky for 150 miles. At least four men were killed.

Four members of the B52 crew were unhurt or suffered only minor injuries. They parachuted to safety after the planes came together while refueling.

Four others were reported dead and four were missing.

"It looked like the whole world — the whole sky — was on fire," said one witness, Eliza Robertson.

The Air Force would not say what type nuclear weapon the B52 carried. It said there was no danger of an explosion.

Katrine Teacher
Named to Assist
Grade Supervisor

The appointment of Miss Margaret Lyle, a teacher of the second grade at Lake Katrine School, to the position of assistant to the elementary supervisor was announced by Kingston Board of Education, (Consolidated) this week.

The appointment was made on the recommendation of the teachers' committee, Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, chairman.

In Education 10 Years

In her new post, Miss Lyle will be an assistant to Mrs. Marion Gregory, elementary supervisor. She will assume her new duties immediately.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Lyle of 438 Albany Avenue, Miss Lyle brings to the position 10 years of experience in elementary and secondary education. Two years of this has been as a teacher of junior high school English at Windsor Central School, Broome County; Highland Falls Central School, and Lake Katrine Elementary School.

Miss Lyle has been active in the New York State Teachers Association, the Kingston Teachers Association, the Early Childhood Association, and the Alumni Association of St. Ursula's Academy.

She attended Albany State Teachers College, and received her BA Degree in 1948. Miss Lyle continued her study at the Albany school and received her Master of Arts Degree in 1949. She is currently enrolled in graduate extension courses at State University College of Education, New Paltz.

Duties Are Listed

Her duties in the new post will involve work with teachers in the classroom, improvement of curriculum, orientation of new teachers, in-service training, some public relations in interpreting the elementary program at Parent-Teachers and other settlement.

There were rumors that several others of the 12 steel companies were also dicker with the union on settlement proposals. Mentioned in these rumors were Jones & Laughlin and Wheeling Steel Co.

It was reported the union proposal contemplated that the industry would abandon the work rule changes it has said are necessary to achieve labor economies.

Two-Year Pact Is Proposed

Fringe Benefits First
Year, Hike in Second

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Steelworkers Union was reported today to have agreed with Kaiser Steel Co. on a strike settlement. The union was pressing the same proposals on the rest of the industry.

The union's proposed settlement terms were reported to call for a two-year package deal of benefits and wage raises worth about 21 cents an hour. Pre-strike earnings averaged $3.11 an hour.

Says Understanding Reached

Informants said the proposal called for no wage increase but substantial fringe benefits in the first year and a wage hike in the second year.

These sources also said the union had reached an understanding on the offer with Edgar Kaiser, chairman of the board of Kaiser Steel Corp.

In response to inquiries about this, Kaiser issued a statement saying Kaiser Steel Corp. has no written or verbal agreement or any commitment to enter into an agreement with the Steelworkers' Union.

Kaiser is one of the 12 big steel companies banded together in bargaining with the union. A breakdown by Kaiser would crack their solid front.

Others Also Dicker

The industry was reported striving to keep Kaiser in line to continue resistance to union demands and hold out for a less expensive settlement.

There were rumors that several others of the 12 steel companies were also dicker with the union on settlement proposals. Mentioned in these rumors were Jones & Laughlin and Wheeling Steel Co.

It was reported the union proposal contemplated that the industry would abandon the work rule changes it has said are necessary to achieve labor economies.

County Will Be
Part of 6-Area
Study on Health

ITHACA—Health services in rural Ulster County will be studied this month by a team of Cornell University researchers who will interview 350 families beginning October 20.

The project, which will continue into November, is part of a six-county study being carried out by the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Purpose of the project is to determine the adequacy of existing health and medical facilities, the value of voluntary health insurance plans, costs of medical care other than hospital expenses, and people's reasons for choosing doctors and dentists.

The researchers believe the information will be useful to public and private agencies responsible for providing health services in the area. The New York State Department of Health, the Medical Society of New York, the New York State Dental Society, and the Ulster County Extension Service have expressed interest in the project.

Rural Areas Win
Victory at Polls

The school bus referendum passed by a slim margin Thursday, 1,879 to 1,805, with the outlying sections of the Kingston School District (Consolidated) voting heavily in favor of a liberalized policy and the city voting just as heavily against it.

A small turnout of voters—3,734—indicated only mild interest in the transportation issue. Fifty of the ballots were void.

A total of 1,377 votes in the rural sections voted in favor of the proposition with 541 opposed.

1,264 Oppose in City

In the city of Kingston 1,264 voted against the proposition with 502 in favor of a liberalized transportation program.

Dr. Earl F. Soper, superintendent of schools, said today that the board of education would put buses "on the road" as fast as possible. He indicated, however, the mechanics of establishing routes, awarded contracts and getting the buses rolling would take "a little time and study."

Reginald Russell, transportation supervisor, is making a survey to determine what buses are now available.

Might Take Two Weeks

"It might take a couple of weeks," Dr. Soper said.

He pointed out, also, that the transportation situation is also affected by litigation now in progress in connection with a bus contract entered into in 1957 by trustees of the former Esopus School District No. 1. This district is now a part of the consolidated system.

A hearing was scheduled today in Rensselaer County Supreme Court on a show cause order why the board of education should not be restrained from denying transportation to children of the former Esopus District. Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth of Port Ewen is presiding at the special session.

A temporary stay was granted Tuesday by Supreme Court Justice William Deckelman by which children in the former Esopus District will continue to be transported under a three-year bus contract with Chappie's Service, Port Ewen. The contract, dated August 30, 1957, provides for transportation of children in that former district through the school year of 1960. The stay also restrained any action on transportation in the former Esopus District regardless of how the Thursday referendum came out.

Must Furnish Rides

Justice Deckelman's order temporarily stayed the board from denying transportation to children of the petitioner, Mrs. Helen M. Potter, Port Ewen, and "others similarly situated" in the former Esopus District.

Attorney Richard W. Griggs appears today for the petitioner and Andrew J. Cook Jr., for the board of education.

Dr. Soper indicated today that he was unable to say how the hearing in Troy today affects the bus referendum. There is a question of whether the petition rises almost 60 per cent in that same period.

He said, "The rise in demand for electricity by the farms, homes, businesses and industries in the Central Hudson Valley reflects the sound economic growth of this area. Central Hudson's substantial expansion program, including such projects as the new Danskammer unit, is tending to meet this demand."

Central Hudson Starts Third Electric
Generator Today at Danskammer Point

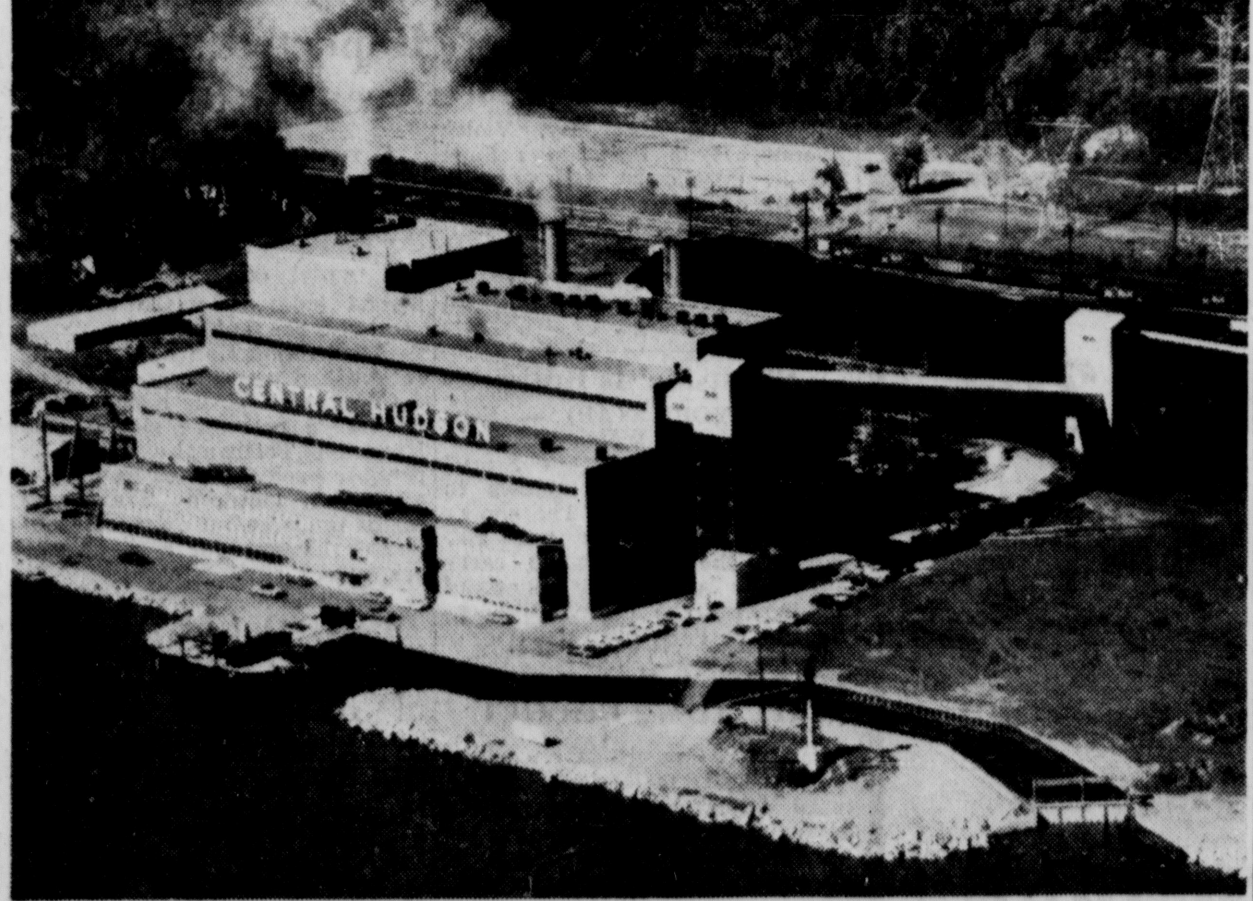

A third electric generating unit at Central Hudson's Danskammer Point Steam Station spun into operation today. The new unit, with a capacity of 140,000 kilowatts, doubles the capacity of the electric station and brings the utility's total investment at Danskammer Point to more than $50,000,000.

Construction commenced on Unit 3 in March of 1957 and it was installed at a cost of approximately $26,500,000. Danskammer Point is located on the west shore of the Hudson River, six miles north of Newburgh.

Together with the two existing 70,000 kilowatt units, which went into operation in 1951 and 1954, the new addition brings the capability of Danskammer up to 280,000 kilowatts. Central Hudson now has in its own electric generating system enough electric power to serve the estimated needs of the Mid-Hudson Valley's homes, farms and industries through 1962.

Central Hudson President Ernest R. Acker referred to the completion of Unit No. 3 as "a significant milestone in the history of the company's operations" and praised Central Hudson personnel, engineers and contractors who brought the new unit to completion on schedule.

Major contractors for the new unit included the New York City firm of Burns and Roe which designed the plant and supervised its construction, the General Electric Company which built the turbine-generator in its Schenectady plant, the Foster Wheeler Corp., Carteret, N. J., which built the condenser and Combustion Engineering, builders of the boiler in Chappaqua, Tenn. In addition, several aspects of the huge construction project were handled by local contractors.

President Acker noted that since 1951, when Unit No. 1 went into operation, the number of the company's electric customers has increased from about 104,000 to about 129,000 and the company's electric sales have risen almost 60 per cent in that same period.

He said, "The rise in demand for electricity by the farms, homes, businesses and industries in the Central Hudson Valley reflects the sound economic growth of this area. ### White House Word: Ike-Nixon Conflict Is Ridiculous

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has labeled ridiculous a news magazine report that President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon are in basic conflict over important policy questions.

Associate press secretary Anne Wheaton made the comment Thursday after telling newsmen the vice president had an hourlong talk with Eisenhower on "national and international problems of wide range."

She was asked what she thought of the report in the magazine Newsweek, which said Eisenhower no longer consults the vice president on important developments.

"I think that's ridiculous," she replied.

Mrs. Wheaton had volunteered that the President asked Nixon to stay on at the White House after a regular weekly meeting of the National Security Council.

She declined to specify the domestic and international problems they discussed. Asked if they had gotten around to 1960 presidential politics, she said, "I wasn't there, but perhaps it was included."

Nixon left Thursday for a vacation in Florida. Eisenhower returned from a desert vacation at Palm Springs, Calif., last week, and on Tuesday from a brief visit to his boyhood hometown of Abilene, Kan.

Polio Cases Drop 50 During Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of paralytic polio cases reported last week dropped to 229, the Public Health Service said today.

That was 50 less than in the week ended Oct. 2 and 103 fewer than the 332 in the peak 1959 week, which came in mid-September.

There were 4,245 paralytic cases reported by the states in the 40 weeks between Jan. 1 and Oct. 9, compared with 2,089 in the corresponding 1958 period. In 1955, the first year Salk polio vaccine became available, there were 8,290 cases in the first 40 weeks.

Domestic demand for Salk vaccine has begun to drop, the service reported. Shipments to U.S. communities by manufacturers during the week ended Oct. 9, fell to 712,185 doses, the first time the weekly total had dropped below a million since last April.

There were 320 cases of all types of polio listed by the reporting states, which compared with 349 in the corresponding 1958 week. But in the 1958 week there were only 158 paralytic cases as compared to the 229 this year.

From Jan. 1 through Oct. 9 there had been 6,738 polio cases reported, compared with 4,348 in the similar 1958 span.

City Will Stay

It is the city's belief, Kelly said, that cost of removal should not be a controlling influence, and it should be removed "as fast as possible."

Called Sub-Standard

Bartholomew said he had no objection to the city's stand as presented, and felt that actually the state department of public works would be served by its removal. By state standards, he said, the structure is sub-standard.

Ferdinand Schue, assistant general attorney for the railroad, asked for the month's adjournment to hear the railroad officials on cost estimates.

Several at Thursday's hearing, including County Attorney Arthur A. Davis Jr., resented closing of testimony without continuance of at least an afternoon session so that they could be heard.

is applicable throughout the consolidated district or is limited to the former Esopus District.

Will Furnish Tickets

He indicated that inside the city of Kingston the school children will be transported "as extensively as possible" by the city transportation system, rather than providing special school buses. The board would provide city bus tickets for those in this category.

The proposition passed yesterday provides transportation to children in the rural area on a half mile basis for those in kindergarten through third grade, on a one mile basis for those in grades four through six and on a mile and a half basis for those in grades through 12.

In the city of Kingston it provides for transportation for elementary school children residing more than 2 mile from their schools and for secondary school children residing more than two miles from their schools.

of drainage structures and facilities, erection of guide posts and guide railing, removal of 52 buildings, installation of 369 reflective roadside delineators, landscaping and miscellaneous related improvements.

Work will begin after a contract is officially executed. The project is scheduled for completion by December 31, 1960, and will be under the supervision of George L. Nickerson, district engineer at Albany.

The work on Route 28, a part of the Kingston arterial system, will consist of furnishing and installing 102 ground-mounted route markers, regulatory warning, parking and guide signs, nine large overhead signs and approximately 230 reflective roadside delineators.

To Begin Shortly

Work will begin shortly following approval of contracts and a routine check by state engineers of all bids received. There usually is a lapse of about a month between receipt of bids and contract award. The Route 28 work is scheduled for completion by December 1, 1960, and will be under the direction of Kurt G. ### County Officials, Business Men Talk Renting Downtown

A proposal to rent quarters in the downtown section of Kingston for badly needed county office space was discussed Thursday night at a joint meeting held in the court house by the building and welfare committee of the board of supervisors and representatives of the Downtown Business Men's Association.

The joint meeting was called by Jesse McHugh, Republican majority leader of the board and chairman of the special building committee. Attending the meeting were County Welfare Commissioner Harry Sutton, who heads one of the departments most pressed for additional space, Manuel Lipton, Henry Singer, James Norton and Martin Aaron, representatives of the Downtown Business Men's Association which has advocated the use of downtown property for county office space. County Attorney Arthur A. Davis Jr., also was present.

Under consideration at the meeting was the Cornell Building on Ferry Street, the former Homeowners' Saving and Loan Association building at Broadway and Strand and the Cordis building at Haebruck Avenue and East Strand.

McHugh called attention to the need for additional space for overcrowded county departments, but maintains the ultimate goal is a new county office building to house at a central point all departments. Even though a new county office building is erected, two years would be required for completion and temporary quarters are urgently needed.

The report to be made by the joint committees to the board of supervisors, with recommendations.

Fringe Benefits

The reported near agreement with Kaiser, McDonald declined comment.

Drop of Eight Cents

The union was expected to place its new offer, paring down its earlier settlement proposal, before the entire industry in the negotiating session.

The 21 cent package deal, reported to be the union's new proposal, is about 8 cents under its earlier demands.

Sources close to the negotiations said there was all kinds of talk among the principals about new offers to be made. The report most widely circulated was that the union was ready to back off on the amount of its money demands—a point the union already has said is negotiable.

Official union sources refused to comment on that report.

In sending the antagonists back into negotiations to end the 94-day steel stoppage before Monday, Chairman George W. Taylor of President Eisenhower's inquiry panel said resuming of steel production is more important than how it is done.

Taylor Has Hopes

Taylor's three-man inquiry board is due to file its report on the strike issues with the White House Monday, provided there is no settlement. Taylor has said a peace pact by then would be a major miracle, but he still had hopes.

On receipt of the report, Eisenhower could order the Justice Department to apply for a court injunction to stop the strike for 80 days.

That would get the mills back to work. But it would not settle the dispute. The union already has voted to strike again at the end of the 80 days.

Both the union and the steel companies have presented their versions of the tangled dispute to the fact finders. Four days of testimony wound up Thursday.

Taylor then proposed arbitration. Both sides rejected it. So the chairman called for resumed negotiations before a final open session with the panel Sunday morning.

The union originally asked for 15 cents per hour wage-benefit gains for each year of a new contract — to match the union says the gains obtained under its old expired contract. Steelworkers were averaging $3.11 hourly before the strike.

Report $500 in Bronze Taken at Cement Plant

A 150-pound, five-foot length of solid bronze valued at over $500 was reported missing at Alpha Portland Cement Company machine shop at Cementon, Greene County, Leeds state police said today.

Plant officials who reported the incident to the state police and Greene County Sheriff's Office said they believed it was taken sometime between Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

The bronze had been stored in the machine shop for use as a replacement part in a stone crusher. Frank B. Marcon, plant superintendent told police the bronze was valued at between $500 and $700.

BCI Sgt. James J. Buckley of Leeds sub-station and Undersheriff Joseph Patrick of Greene County Sheriff's Office are investigating.

Unofficial List Is Made Known For Fire Jobs

Harold S. VanBramer, fire board president, today said that no official list has been received from the Municipal Civil Service Commission pertinent to possible appointment of fire department jobs.

A tentative list is known, however, and on that are Robert W. Hardwick, 30 Wood Street; Robert F. Schatzel, 36 Navara Street; Alexander M. Maines, 117 Wall Street; Harry L. Sills, 46 Adams Street, and Robert Maines, 5 Grand View Avenue.

If appointments are made they will be the first of that rank in the local department.

Fire Chief James M. Brett also said that he had not received a copy of the civil service eligibility list.

The next regular fire board meeting is slated for Oct. 27.

2 Officers With Longest Service Get Day Patrols

Two patrolmen with longest department service will be assigned to steady daytime patrol as the result of police board action Thursday night.

A letter from the Kingston Patrolmen's Association requested the assignment for officers Edward J. Leonard and Thomas R. McGraw, and it was approved by the board on recommendation of Mayor Edwin F. Radel and Police Chief Robert F. Murphy.

The officers will do school patrol and go on radio car duty on a steady 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. shift.

The board took note of the retirement of Officer Peter J. Camp, effective today after more than 40 years of service, and Mayor Radel said he would write a letter of thanks and commendation to him for his many years of service.

Chief Murphy's report for September showed 18 persons injured in 13 traffic mishaps, and 181 arrests made.

Involved in the accidents were four pedestrians, seven were hurt in accidents involving two or more vehicles, three involved fixed objects, one a bicycle, and one was reported hurt in a non-collision mishap.

Of the arrests, 71 were for traffic code infractions, 35 for public intoxication, nine for third degree assault, one for second degree assault, 41 for vehicle and traffic violations, three for second degree larceny, and one each for rape, second degree forgery, petit larceny, unlawful intrusion, and vagrancy, and four for disorderly conduct.

Farmer Contest Entry Deadline Set for Tuesday

October 20 is the final day that nominations can be accepted for consideration in the outstanding young farmer contest according to Howard Stauble, Junior Chamber of Commerce committee chairman.

The contest is aimed at honoring the community's agriculturists who have made exceptional career progress while maintaining good conservation practices and a responsible role in community life. All farmers aged 21-35 who derive at least two-thirds of their incomes from farming are eligible for nomination.

The local program is part of a nation-wide effort now taking place in some 1,500 communities, sponsored nationally by the American Petroleum Institute, committee on Agriculture and the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The local winner will receive numerous awards and will be entered in the state finals. Winners of the state contest will advance to the national competition.

U.S. to Launch 10 Rockets During November Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans to fire a salvo of 10 research rockets—some as high as 1,000 miles—during one week in November.

The 10 launchings will be the U.S. contribution to International Rocket Week, Nov. 16 to 22.

The research rockets will include four from Wallops Island, Va., one possibly to light the whole Eastern Seaboard with a sodium fire.

There will be three from Fort Churchill, on Hudson Bay in Canada; two from Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.; and one from White Sands, N.M.

The rocket series is the highlight of the U.S. program for International Geophysical Cooperation-1959. This is a continuation of the International Geophysical Year of 1957-58. The National Academy of Sciences announced the plans Thursday night.

Restaurant Chain Reported Seeking Area Thruway Site

A report that Howard Johnson is acquiring property near the Kingston Thruway exit for the construction of a restaurant and motel could not be confirmed today. Howard Johnson recently has entered the motel field in conjunction with its long established restaurant business.

Completion of the Kingston interchange near the site of the Kingston Thruway exit and a proposed relocation of Route 209 and the Ontario Trail will make the area an extremely desirable location for a motel and restaurant site.

Dairymen's League Says Unions Just for Labor

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — The Dairymen's League plans to seek aid of the Legislature in any dispute arising from attempts by labor unions to organize farmers.

In deciding to ask for legislative help, if necessary, delegates to the League's 40th annual meeting asserted in a resolution Thursday that farm organizations should represent farmers and labor unions should stick to labor.

The League also endorsed in another resolution the proposed constitutional amendment that would permit use of 300 acres of Adirondack forest preserve for the Albany - Canada Northway. The proposed amendment will be No. 2 on the ballot Nov. 3.

The resolution said 36 miles of fertile farmland would be damaged if the Northway were built through the Champlain Valley, as many conservation groups propose.

Public Health Award Given Dr. H. E. Hilleboe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Assn. of State and Territorial Health Officers has honored Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, New York State health commissioner, for his work on medical education and research.

Hilleboe received the Arthur T. McCormick award Thursday night. It is given each year to a health officer who has had 25 years in public health, 10 years as a state health officer and who has performed exceptionally distinguished service.

The McCormick award is in memory of a former Kentucky state health officer.

Hilleboe is a former president of the health officers association and of the American Public Health Assn.

Ex-Marine Held For Mom's Death

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — A former Marine who, an assistant district attorney said, "should know how to handle a gun" is charged with second-degree manslaughter in the shooting of his mother.

The charge was placed Thursday against Edward Topalian, a 20-year-old college sophomore, after his mother, Mrs. Margaret Topalian, 52, died of a bullet wound near the heart. She was shot Thursday in a bedroom of her home.

"This is a case of culpable negligence because if anyone should know how to handle a gun after being in the Marines this boy should," assistant Dist. Atty. Anthony Langan of Onondaga County said.

Topalian was ordered held in $5,000 bail pending arraignment today.

Police said Topalian found a revolver, owned by his father, Mequerditch Topalian, 64, beneath a mattress the youth was helping his mother turn.

The younger Topalian told police he grabbed the weapon waved it around, pointed it at his mother, made some remarks he described as foolish and pulled the trigger. Mrs. Topalian was standing five feet away.

She died in a hospital several hours after the shooting.

Police quoted the youth as saying he never had known his father to leave the revolver loaded.

The father had a permit for the weapon, police said.

The son attends University College, the downtown division of Syracuse University.

Think It Through

E. F. HUTTON
IN PORK WE TRUST

Let history record that Eisenhower's first veto in 6½ years to be overridden was because pork smells so good.

Write it down. On one side of the scales was the biggest debt in history; the biggest peace-time deficit in history; the Treasury facing a real crisis; and inflation blown up to the bursting point.

And on the other side—PORK!

Like passing the hat in church, Rayburn and Johnson—the Texas twin twisters—passed the pork barrel for ballots and pork won hands down.

More important than the nation's near bankruptcy was the stampede to get some "easy money" to dredge Salt Creek; add a wing to the post office for larger Congressional offices "back home"; and build bigger monuments to the generals who won the wars (without help).

There was a whole herd of swine in that barter, and that includes Alaska, which is some district to porkify.

Some Republicans voted for pork, but the big majority were Democrats. And that reminds me: Weren't the lads who plowed under millions of little porkers one time to make pork cost us city fellows more money?

Plow the porkers under in '33; bring them home in barrels in '59. Eskimos live on blubber, and Congressmen on pork.

It may be Ham acting, but that's the way it's done. IN PORK WE TRUST.

Sampson Sale Is Still Indefinite

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Services Administration said today plans for sale of the old Sampson, N. Y., Air Force Base continued indefinite.

"Everything is more or less in abeyance," a GSA official said.

The GSA last May directed its New York office to draw up a sales plan for the base, which has already been declared surplus property by the government and available for sale to state, private interests or both.

New York State would have first option on any lands suitable for a park.

Conflicting plans have been suggested for disposal of the base. The Finger Lakes Park Commission has applied for 1,292 acres and is backed by the New York State Council of Parks.

But Rep. John Taber (R-NY), in whose congressional district the base is located, wants only 228 acres allocated to parks and the other 1,064 acres reserved for industrial, commercial and residential use.

Taber has exchanged sharp remarks with some New York park officials over disposition of the base.

Under law, a purchaser must pay 50 per cent of the land's appraised value before gaining title. The appraisal is one phase of the sales plan to be worked out by GSA.

Taber claims the 50 per cent law would mean the Finger Lakes Park Commission plan would cost over $500,000 initially. The commission, he contends, has made no allowance for this payment nor for development of a park.

Gov. Rockefeller has been asked by Democratic Assemblyman Francis J. Souhan of Seneca Falls to investigate the controversy.

Souhan claims Robert Moses, chairman of the Parks Council, wants to turn the entire state into a park and Taber wants to turn Sampson over to "greedy real estate friends."

Red Composers Coming

Illnesses Made White Prone to Panic, Jury Told

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP) — A psychiatrist says that because of illnesses, manufacturer Malcolm R. White was more prone to panic and fear than a normal man when he shot a union organizer to death last Nov. 13.

Dr. Lawrence Sweeney, Poughkeepsie, medical witness for the defense, gave that opinion Thursday in Orange County Court where White is on trial for first-degree murder.

Sweeney testified that White suffered migraine headaches similar to epileptic seizures and sustained brain damage several years before he shot Alfred F. Dugan. Dugan had engineered a strike at White's cable company, in Chester, N. Y., in an effort to organize the workers for a small independent union. The AFL-CIO already had a contract there.

White has pleaded self-defense, claiming he feared Dugan meant to attack him. He killed Dugan with a pistol on a road near the factory.

The trial resumes Monday.

Indians to Consider $10 Million Lease

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP) — Mohawk Indians of the St. Regis Reservation will meet Saturday to consider what a spokesman says is a 10-million-dollar offer for a 99-year lease on a tract of land along the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Chief Louis D. Jacobs said Thursday night a New York City shipping firm wants to acquire use of the land for dock and port facilities. He declined to identify the company.

The 800-acre tract is on Raquette Point, 11 miles east of Massena and immediately south of Cornwall Island. It adjoins the site of General Motors' new Chevrolet plant and is just east of the St.

Lawrence River bridge connecting Massena and Cornwall, Ont.

Jacobs said the shipping firm offered to pay the Mohawks one million dollars in cash plus $100,000 a year in rent.

The chief said the company indicated it would construct major dock and harbor facilities on the site.

Red Tide Kills Fish
VENICE, Fla. (AP)—The menacing Red Tide has left its mark of dead fish on beaches here and biologists predict more will wash ashore.

Thick patches of rotting fish along a 25-mile front brought stinging fumes to this area Thursday.

Red Tide is a marine micro-organism that turns the water a rust color and is fatal to fish under certain weather conditions.

CARRIER BOYS MERIT TRIBUTE

National Newspaper Boy Day will be celebrated tomorrow. Our newspaper boys are the final link between the newspaper and its subscribers, and, this is the one day of the year when the newspaper industry formally acknowledges and honors the fine young independent businessmen who deliver the majority of the nation's newspapers.

In all America there is no better value in work training than the lessons of promptness, service, honesty, dependability, courtesy, thrift, obligation, selling and human relations learned by the newspaper carrier boy.

These young businessmen are learning the basic fundamentals of our business world and our free enterprise system. They are establishing values that will stay with them as long as they live. Our newspaper boys of today will be our leaders of tomorrow.

National Newspaper Boy Day, which annually is part of National Newspaper Week, affords the opportunity for readers and newspapers alike to publicly express their appreciation to these young independent businessmen for a job well done.

AUTUMN'S PAGEANT

The magnificent spectacle of autumn has begun in Ulster County and in the surrounding countryside of the Catskills.

In the autumn colorama of New York State, there are few sections more beautiful than this area. The wooded hillsides have begun to change their green summer garb to the scarlet and gold of the flaming foliage of the season. This spectacular pageant of fall color may be viewed at close range from any of the county highways.

CHILDREN AND LEAVES

This is the season of the year when young children love to play in the leaves, which now are dropping down from the trees along the city streets. And this is the time of year that motorists are asked to be especially careful when pulling up to a curb where there is a pile of leaves.

The youngsters think only of the fun of burying themselves in the leaves and disregard the peril. Extreme care on the part of all motor vehicle operators during this period will avert serious accident to some innocent child.

Too often the Soviet's coexistence doctrine seems to imply no existence for both-ersome opponents.

YOUR TAX BILL

How much money in taxes will the average man pay between now and age 65?

Frank R. Ford has figured out the answer, in an article which appeared originally in the New York World-Telegram and The Sun and has been condensed in Reader's Digest.

This average man is 29 years old, makes a little under $100 a week, and has a wife, two children, a low-priced car and a mortgaged home.

In the next 36 years, says Mr. Ford, he can expect to pay $47,221 in taxes. That amounts to $25.23 a week—or more than 25 per cent of his income.

Federal income taxes are the biggest single item. Even so, they come to but 44 per cent of the total. The balance consists of social security taxes, real estate taxes, personal property taxes, taxes on gasoline and tires, sales taxes, state income taxes, and so on.

To cap the climax, Mr. Ford emphasizes that the figures are conservative—for they don't take into consideration future tax increases. And the way things are going, increases seem as certain as tomorrow morning.

What it amounts to is that the average man puts in a quarter of his working time in behalf of the government. Then, what money he has left has been ravaged by inflation.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
OF TEMPORARY IMPORTANCE

It does happen that some persons become temporarily important. Politicians, actors, singers, murderers, gangsters—all sorts of persons achieve the state of appearing to be important for a few years. Then, of course, they, like the rest of us, subside in the dust of oblivion which is, indeed, irksome.

The immediate problem is whether to have or not to have a modern, fancy self-operated elevator and the agitation becomes frenzied. Some important ones are fearful that an untended elevator will be an invitation for criminals to hop them over their heads and steal their jewels. Of course, criminals can do the same if the elevator is attended, because nowadays with full employment and nobody hungry, the ablest men go where the money flows more freely. Running an elevator in an apartment house is not the most inviting job, particularly if the tenants are slow to tip.

In fact, tipping is a big issue in such matters. It is a fundamental, sanctified custom from which one departs at his peril. In the old days, it used to be said that an untipped waiter put his thumb in the soup when the customer came again, but nowadays, we do not eat much soup, except out of cans at home to save the labor of a wife. But a clever waiter can always get even, like spilling a sauce on a customer's suit or giving him a table near the kitchen door, or refusing him a table altogether.

Everybody expects a tip and those who, even around Christmas time, forget the customs of civilization, will know it. So, competent, polite, attentive, energetic, valise-carrying elevator men prefer to go where the reputation is that the tips are generous and often. Those who complain loudest about the service they get are usually the least tippers, if at all.

Now I am not absolutely positive that an automatic elevator is best for children, certainly not for children reared by progressive parents who spare the child and ruin its manners. Such children will go up and down and play in an elevator as though it were a toy and there would be no one about to spank them. Unless a child is spanked, he never believes that what he is doing is wrong, children not knowing right from wrong until they are told and the right is enforced by drastic means. The wickedest of improperly reared children can be a menace in such an elevator, but a good, strong spanking can save such a child from delinquency.

However, as old-age pensions and other welfare provisions become increasingly devastating in our world, more and more jobs will become unfillable. It is like trained cooks who are disappearing altogether from the domestic market, or those who are willing to take such jobs stipulate conditions which make it easier for the housewife to provide her own indignation. Therefore, we might as well take our automatic elevators in good grace as something about as inevitable as the electric light and the sewing machine.

Our standard of living rises, but it is not being sustained by what used to be called, "help." The "help" want their standards of life to rise, too, and they object to doing the menial jobs upon which a society of ease must rest. Besides, they have become very expensive. And so, willy-nilly we shall have automatic, self-service elevators and the progressive brats will have to be spanked for their misuse or they will probably be killed. A spanking can save their lives. It has been known to be very good for the soul. If the children cannot be cured, perhaps the parents can be.

The temporarily important persons fear being mugged or robbed or kidnapped by those who are jealous of their temporary success in life. Only those who have no successful ancestors fear the consequences of good fortune. Those with ancestors know that nothing is permanent and least of all, wealth which rolls away and is lost in a few generations. Even the names of the Four Hundred are forgotten in this era of Cafe Society when headwaters determine who is significant and rates a preferred table. The great names of yesterday hardly carry a decibel. Today's notorious become tomorrow's ordinary and celebrities rarely outlive their press agents.

That some become temporary celebrities is what is so often called democracy, which is not. What it amounts to is that among free men the quality of human beings is not measured by some advantage of style but by permanent contributions, as, for instance, the genius of Benjamin Franklin or the nobility of Abraham Lincoln whose mother was surely not of the moneyed aristocracy. But the truly great require no privilege; they are chosen.

★ The Doctor Says ★

Adults Are Acting Childish

If They Ignore Immunization

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

Just about this time every year, thousands of our kids just beginning school are receiving shots to prevent them from getting infectious diseases that used to cripple and even kill countless numbers of youngsters.

Things are easier for the modern child than they were for us. We had to get separate shots for each disease. Today, they can get a four-in-one "shot" that protects against whooping cough, tetanus, diphtheria and infantile paralysis. A single series of four injections and their smallpox scratch and they're all set for three to five years.

But how about the grownups in your family? When did each of you bring your immunization program up to date?

I'll admit there's little chance you'll get whooping cough so long as the youngsters are protected. There's even less chance you'll catch smallpox or diphtheria so long as you stay in the U.S.A. And, if you travel, you won't get your passport unless you've had a recent smallpox inoculation and your typhoid "shots."

Surely the memory of Franklin Roosevelt, stricken by polio in his 39th year, must be a constant reminder that what we used to call "infantile paralysis" is an infection that attacks adults as well as youngsters.

Isn't it better to take a series of four "shots" of Salk vaccine rather than risk a long siege of illness and a lifetime of having to get along with withered muscles or limbs? Yet millions of Americans in the susceptible age group of less than 50, are taking this very bad gamble.

And how about antitetanus "shots"? Or, if you were in the Army, an antitetanus "booster"? Here's what Dr. H. H. Young of the Mayo Clinic had to say on the subject:

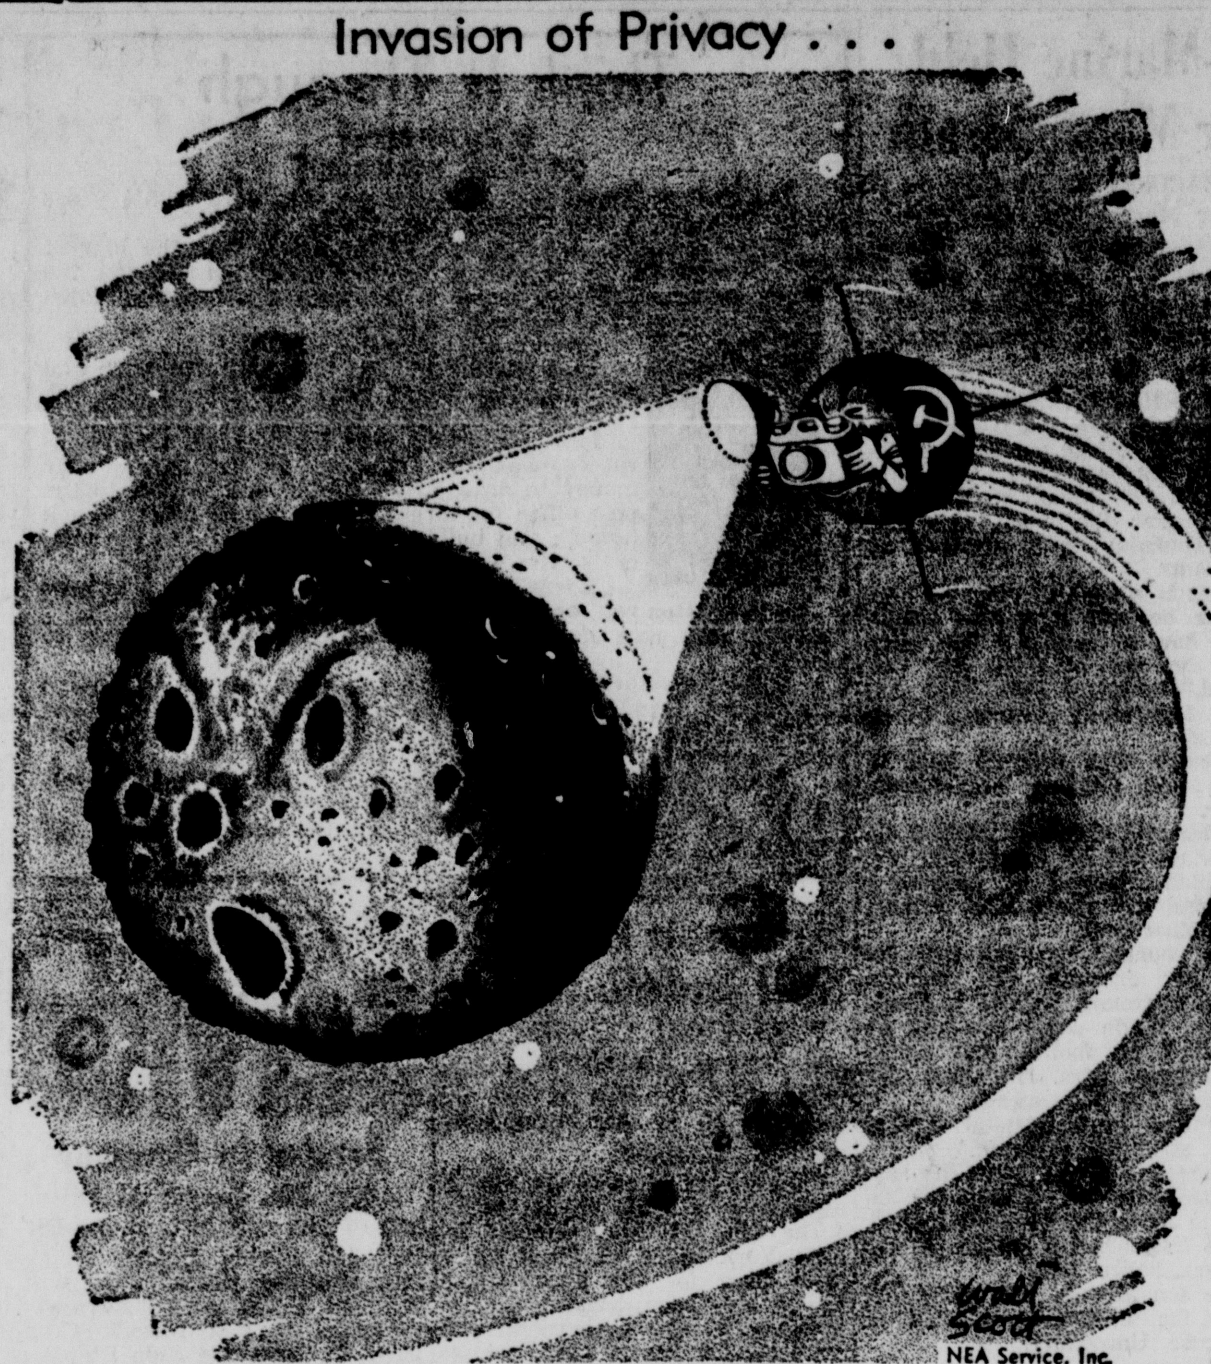

"Every farmer, every rancher, every laborer, every person who rides in or drives an automobile, indeed everyone would benefit by active immunization against tetanus (lockjaw)."

Here's the gamble you take when you fail to take advantage of antitetanus injections. A single course of preventive shots affords protection for maybe five to 10 years. When you suffer a puncture wound or another type of injury that invites tetanus infection, your immunity level can be raised immediately by a single booster shot that never causes a bad reaction.

But if you get a nail or a sliver of wood in your finger or foot, and you haven't had previous protection, you have to get an injection of serum that might cause an annoying reaction.

And if you develop signs of lockjaw, your chances for recovery aren't much better than one in three even if you get the best kind of heroic treatment.

In World War II only six members of the American Armed Forces suffered from lockjaw. Yet a report issued by the Mayo Clinic listed the infection in 91 civilians in a single hospital. And every once in a while, almost every physician has to treat a case of tetanus in the farmer, laborer or rancher or the mother and her newborn just after childbirth.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Alfred Nobel, the donor of the "prizes" which advertise his name, was a vain, smug Swede who invented dynamite with the advantage of basic public knowledge amassed long before his time. He was the son of a millionaire who had struck oil in Rumania and Imperial Russia and he added to his inheritance from his paw a large accumulation of his own derived from explosives and adjacent interests.

All this was before socialism in Sweden where today it is almost impossible to get rich, noting the exceptions of Axel Wennergren and Ivar Kreuger, who manufactured billions of matches but went crazy under the pressure of competition from pilot lights and cigarette lighters. A few fugitives from the ink and estate taxes, some of them Americans, still lead a luxurious nomadic life batting around the continent, the West Indies and Mexico, carefully timing their sojourns in various sovereignties so as not to overstay. Wenner-Gren has two palatial layouts in Sweden, but he also camps out in Mexico City and the Bahamas, for what reason I do not say or imply. He says his income is zero after taxes now. Nobel exiled himself to Paris years before the existence of a tax-motive, maybe he just liked to live in Paris.

Nobel arranged that the awards flaunting his name should be divided in a strange way yielding great, perpetual publicity. The prizes in physics, medicine and literature are awarded in Sweden by more or less learned academicians, but the "peace" prize is a Norwegian political phenomenon by Nobel's peculiar specification. The Norwegian Parliament, a political body, appoints an "impartial" committee which lives up in a square, solid three-story building with the graceful lines of a concrete bunker in the ruins of Berlin. It is painted the shade of green commonly associated with Mal de Mer. The roof is of red tile suggesting dried blood. I am instructed that altogether the institute has the dignity of an Old World mansion. Here the Nobel Institute of Oslo picks the lucky fellows who get the $35,000, tax-free both in Norway and in our country, plus the acclaim, often insensate, as in the cases of Ralph Bunche and General George Marshall.

President Eisenhower and, of all people, Walt Disney, are showing a burst of early foot in this year's competition. There is even some discussion of Khrushchev, inspired by a hope that he will shoot the works compliant with Herbert Hoover's prayer that he make himself the greatest savior since Calvary.

The Norwegians still are high on Marshall for his massive diversion to Norway of American taxes, paid, as Roosevelt put it, in the sweat of those Americans who toil. However, they are polite under reminders that Marshall was just retrieving by his open-handed "plan" the colossal mistake of a patronizing mama's boy who made this nonentity chief of staff, then an ambassador to China, then secretary of state. Norwegians dig in their heels if you tell them Roosevelt had no business rescuing Russia to the end that Russia now presents a far more alarming menace than Hitler could have dreamed. But they don't doubt that Hitler would have died by now, and that a victorious Germany would have made Soviet Russia pick up the pieces wherever breakage occurred. Of course, labor gangsters would have howled against the use of scabs, especially in England, but the Nazis, like the Muscovites, had no patience for such folly.

In front of the Nobel Institute, which stands near the new American embassy, there is a bronze bust of old Alf wearing mutton chop whiskers and a sprig of spinach on the chin. Pigeons and other street fowl roost on it. He must have been a gloomy fellow.

Norway and Sweden were a joint nation until 1905 when Norway pulled away in a bloodless revolution. But there was asperity in the parting and Nobel sided with Norway in the purely gratuitous insinuation that Sweden could not be trusted to administer anything so sensitive and pure as his award for "peace."

Theodore Roosevelt got the first one for the Treaty of Portsmouth ending the Russo-Japanese War of 1904. Bill Loeb Jr., the son of T. R.'s private secretary, says T.R. and others hustled Czar Nicholas into this untimely because Japan had thrown her Sunday punch whereas Russia was just getting off the floor and beginning to crank up her own Mary Ann. But revolution was rife in Russia and Nicholas may have known he was licked.

Nobel's self-importance in presuming to "honor" great or merely famous men, always with removal to his own name, is not overlooked in Sweden and Norway today.

These people are not called squareheads for nothing. I would not bet I could fool them.

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Dwight D. Eisenhower is already making a list of those things he wants to make sure he accomplishes before his term is over as president.

This next year will be his last in office—probably his last in any political post. He is quietly determined to make use of whatever influence and prestige he has toward the solution of five major problems he sees facing the United States at home and abroad.

This he feels will be his contribution to history.

Here is President Eisenhower's list:

ONE—PERSONAL MEETINGS with Nikita Khrushchev—as many as necessary—at the Summit or in the Soviet Union or wherever—in an attempt to ease the Cold War.

Mr. Eisenhower was markedly encouraged by the talks at Camp David. He now has some confidence that personal talks may be fruitful. He is willing to give this personal diplomacy a try.

Until recently, despite his great diplomatic successes as an Allied Commander in World War II, he has been leery of personal diplomacy. He now feels there is no other choice. There is no point in talking at any lower level than Khrushchev—since no one but Khrushchev makes the decisions in Russia.

Two—MR. EISENHOWER is determined to bring a little more unification in the Department of Defense, in the armed services, and in military budgets. He wants to divorce the Joint Chiefs of Staff somewhat more from the individual services. Object: so they will think on a national plane—rather than as Army, Navy or Air Force chiefs. He wants to define more precisely what each service does in war—so there will be less rivalry.

One aim: unification of Army, Navy and Air Force publicity services—and their congressional liaisons—so there won't be rival statements in public and before Congress.

Supreme Court Dilemma Is Seen in Louisiana Case

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Chickens come home to roost—even in court rulings. Once, not so long ago, the Supreme Court of the United States, ruled that persons suspected of Communist affiliations could not be deprived of their jobs in defense industries unless permitted through counsel to confront accusers and cross-examine them. That's the "law of the land" today.

Now comes a special three-judge Federal court in Louisiana and says that the registrars who handle voter registrations cannot be forced to participate in hearings of the National Civil Rights Commission unless an opportunity is given them through counsel to confront and cross-examine witnesses and to examine the complaints and any derogatory information previously given to the government by their accusers.

The National Civil Rights Commission finds itself stymied. It says it cannot proceed to investigate irregularities in refusing registration to certain voters until the Supreme Court decides whether the ruling of the special court in Louisiana should be upheld or reversed. Commenting on the ruling, an official of the Civil Rights Commission said the other day that the commission had to protect the identities of informants. He said to the United Press International:

"A lot of them are state employees such as school teachers who would lose their jobs. Others would be subject to physical harassment."

This has a familiar ring. It's what the FBI has been saying all along, though critics have insisted that the FBI must open up its files anyway in cases involving suspected Communists and give them a chance to rebut the charges.

Much of the information and many tips about law violations come from anonymous sources or individuals who have been promised that their names would not be revealed in any court or tribunal.

The Supreme Court of the United States, however, brushed aside this practical barrier and in a case known as Greene v. McElroy, held that the Defense Department had not been authorized by Congress to conduct hearings in its industrial-security clearance program which would deny civilian employees the rights of confronting and cross-examining any witness.

So the special Federal court, in ruling on the questions raised in the Civil Rights Commission case, said:

"In accordance with the teaching of Greene v. McElroy, we decide only that in a hearing such as the one envisaged here, the commission had no right to deny the accused registrars the traditional rights of confrontation and cross-examination in the absence of explicit Congressional authorization to do so."

"In Greene v. McElroy the Supreme Court held these safeguards were not to be denied to one being investigated for alleged Communist associations and sympathies in the absence of explicit authorization from either the President or Congress. Surely, duly chosen state officials are entitled to the same protection, especially since no considerations of national security are involved. So is every citizen. In Greene v. McElroy, the government did not take the petitioner's job away from him, but he did lose his job as a result of a government finding to the effect that he was not a good security risk."

"If the commission here finds the charges against the registrars are true, they are faced not only with public scorn and possible loss of their jobs, but also with probable indictment, arrest and prosecution."

Quandary for Court
The court ruled that the act itself which created the National Civil Rights Commission is constitutional but that the commission's rules of procedure were not authorized.

Plainly American citizens in the South who act as registrars in voting districts are entitled to the same rights as persons suspected of Communist affiliations. It would seem, therefore, that the Supreme Court will have to abide by its earlier ruling or else be in the position of issuing one ruling for loyal Americans and another for those suspected of Communist affiliations.

matter of FACT

The blocks of limestone and granite used in building the Great Pyramids of Egypt were brought by boat from quarries across the Nile and to the south. This could be done for only three months each spring, when the Nile was flooded. It took 20 years and some 500,000 trips to transport the needed stone. Boats unloaded at a landing space joined to the building site by a stone road. The blocks, each weighing about two tons, were then pulled up the road on sledges by gangs of men.

It Really Doesn't Take Much Effort to Be a Bore

You're bound to be a bore if——You aren't really interested in anything except you and yours.
—It has never dawned on you that a little talk about your children goes a long way, because others can't possibly find the subject as fascinating as you do.

—You always do far more than your share of the talking and listen to what the other person is saying just for the chance of interrupting at the first opportunity.

—You're "agin" most things and can always point out the hole in the doughnut or the fly in the ointment, no matter how enthusiastic someone else is.

—You drone on in a monotonous tone of voice and can drag a story out longer than any dog's life.

—You are deadly serious and don't even try to see the light or funny side of any happening.

—You are convinced the world is going to the dogs, that young people these days are simply "terrible," and that nothing is quite as good as it was back in the old days.

Over 85 Members Of Area P-TA's Attend Training

More than 85 members of Taconic, Westchester and Central-Hudson P-TA District Boards met at Hotel Thayer, West Point, recently for training in their respective P-TA jobs.

Mrs. Dema Kennedy, field Service director for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, said in her address that there were three types of leadership — authoritarian, laissez-faire and Democratic or creative.

Emphasizes Leadership
"Where the majority of the group are apathetic or negative," said Mrs. Kennedy, "it is the president that makes this difference." In a creative, vital P-TA, membership is enthusiastic and participating; the interest, talents, ideas and discussions have been used by the president; the president has shared ideas and publications information; has led his group to concern over the schools acute needs; the president has always kept in mind he is serving a group whose common bond is children and whose force should be cohesive with other community groups of like goals and ideals but not overlapping.

Mrs. Kennedy further felt that although leading is a science, leadership skills need not be confined to so-called "natural leaders" but may be acquired. Mrs. Kennedy also stressed far-reaching importance to the fact that each member is an influential lay leader in education as he, in his daily contacts, gives out facts and interprets school problems and needs.

Following her own question, "How can local units develop leadership?" Mrs. Kennedy suggested that membership interest should be inventoried, that broader participation of the membership be sought, that better knowledge of members be had by the president in assigning the right person the right job, that the president be frank about what each job entails.

Cites Obligation

Mrs. Kennedy thought that unit leaders had an obligation to ensure teacher participation by encouraging teacher membership through good programs, also teacher representation on the executive committee; also to recognize teachers on Teacher Recognition Day, also protecting them against grievances at a meeting or from getting cornered for parent conferences in the social hour of a meeting and to see that each teachers' room has a Teacher's Guide to P-TA.

Mrs. Kennedy remarked that the P-TA was a folk movement on the national scene that fosters and develops fine home-school relations, that is an effective means to disseminate information to adults so as to reap support for schools, that it is a cohesive force in community goals and ideals common to children's welfare, that P-TA is a medium of raising standards in homes, that P-TA keeps adults abreast of the times, gives a chance for leaders to develop, and P-TA gives boosts to such cases as health, recreation, reading and movie fare and all phases of learning.

Mrs. Kennedy said leaders can develop more to the job's maximum requirements if they are encouraged to attend P-TA Institutes of learning, conferences, workshops and other training sessions, by having money placed in the budget to defray their expenses.

Publications Stressed

She stressed the importance of the publications that come to units monthly and can add so much vital information, sometimes as the focal point of a regular program, or as additional information to coincide with a program already planned. Mrs. Kennedy hoped each unit would have a publications chairman whose job would be to keep an up-to-date file, by category such as health, juvenile, child development, etc., of articles and information and would bring his own informed influence to bear upon the executive committee and entire membership. She suggested a unit book shelf available to parents and teachers, featuring one thing at a time, rather than an array, also publication displays at workshops.

Mrs. Kennedy spoke at length of the district leaders' place in assisting units by personal contact, letter, phone, follow-up; to help units understand evaluation purposes of the reports required and the value of these reports to those following in office; to help units know their P-TA objects and policies, and to use their publications, especially the manual.

Press Plays Key Role in Power Fight With Reds

In our struggles with Russia we are going to have to be careful not to lose our personal liberties, said two Syracuse University journalism professors in a recent comment upon 1959's National Newspaper Week.

Analyzing the week's theme, "Your Newspaper — Freedom's Textbook," the two men declared that newspapers will bear much of the responsibility for keeping our liberties for us.

The two are Dean W. C. Clark of Syracuse's school of Journalism, and Professor Robert D. Murphy.

"The missile race between the United States and Soviet Russia has much of the symbolism of a Greek tragedy," they said. "It is a competition between two systems, one holding that the people live for the state, the other that the state lives to serve the people."

Our job, they said, is to compete successfully with Russia's ruthless marshalling of people for the sake of efficiency and to maintain, in addition, the human values which our far-sighted ancestors hammered out in perhaps as difficult, but certainly less complicated, times.

"We are likely to have to work harder than Russia," said Dean Clark. "We will have to be industrious and ingenious to protect our personal liberties. Newspapers will bear much of this responsibility."

As responsibilities of governments increase, the responsibilities of newspapers in a democracy increase in the same measure, Dean Clark said. Government is the people's business, he said, and the people have to know enough about public decisions to have an intelligent opinion. "Liberty cannot survive without liberty, since both are like

West's double of three no-trump was practically a capital offense. Naturally West expected some face cards in his partner's hand but West held a minimum opening and knew that his king of diamonds was misplaced.

South might have punished the culprits severely by redoubling but South was not a real doubler and merely contented himself with three overtricks. He won the opening heart lead and finessed the queen of diamonds. It held the trick and the diamond was finessed a second time. Back to his hand with a club and a third diamond finesse cleared up the suit.

Now South ran off the clubs and diamonds and discarded down to the queen of hearts and

The Tri-City Symphony Orchestra has assembled an extensive repertoire which includes the works of the world's masters, as well as major compositions of leading semi-classical composers. Its ability to handle anything in the concert repertoire was demonstrated recently by its brilliant interpretation of Beethoven's great "Choral" Symphony. U.S. Is Against
Anglo Jet Sales
To Castro Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has protested against Britain's plans to sell outmoded jet fighters to the Cuban air force.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government is dickering with the British for at least 15 Hawker Hunter fighters to modernize his air force. Castro has proposed swapping 15 propeller-driven British Sea Fury fighters for them. Some diplomatic reports claim the Cubans also are interested in buying a second batch of 15.

In objecting to the deal, State Department diplomats are understood to have contended such deliveries will add tension to the Caribbean area at a time when anxieties appear to be easing. Castro is reported to have stressed he wants the jets for defensive purposes only, not for any military action against the regime of his Caribbean foe, Gen. Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic.

Both Cuba and the Dominican Republic have bought infantry weapons from West European countries in recent months at a time when the United States has banned all such American shipments.

The election board members re-appointed are the same as last year, Chairman Emma Ackert, Albert S. Fox, Beatrice Colette and E. C. Davis.

Last Wednesday night the Olive Square Club celebrated its 5th birthday anniversary with a roast beef dinner at the SRS Home in Cottekill. Fifty-four were numbered among the banqueting group. At the speakers table with Edward F. Kloeber, master of ceremonies, were the Rev. and Mrs. Osterhoudt, Phil Hearn, Association Secretary Walter Lane and former District Attorney Howard C. St. John. The Rev. Phillips delivered the invocation and St. John was the after dinner speaker. Past Presidents Reginald E. Davis, Arthur Blume, Anthony Macaluso, Treasurer William Jackson, Past Chairman Hyman Axinn together with their wives and Chaplain E. C. Davis spoke briefly. Already the Square Club members are looking ahead to a bigger and better celebration next year.

Frank Royce, veteran Cuba, N. Y., fire chief, Allegheny County fire coordinator and County Civil Defense chairman, is in town for several days entertaining friends and successfully enjoying squirrel hunting and reservoir fishing. He expects to return again for the deer season. With one or two exceptions, Mr. Royce has been an annual visitor in West Shokan since 1924, frequently making several trips a year.

Last Friday night on invitation of Hyman Axinn an Olive Square Club group numbering 18 were visitors at the new Temple Emanuel in Kingston. They were extended a cordial welcome by Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom and various members of the congregation. All were deeply impressed with the speakers remarks and at the conclusion of the service they were conducted through the Temple and its various departments.

Emil Steigmanis, West Shokan Heights' newest resident, had the misfortune to have his small rusty colored dog break loose Sunday morning with chain attached. Mr. Steigmanis is a retired Merchant Marine engineer veteran who was twice torpedoed during World War 2.

About 290 persons were expected Saturday night at the IOOF annual roast beef supper at the Olive Bridge Lodge Hall. The IOOF and Olive Rebekah members cooperated to make the affair a success. Credit is given Mrs. Reggie Davis and Mrs. Floyd Beesmer for much of the success which netted around $300, comparable to last year's figure.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Doherty entertained at their over-week guests Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Sadie Miller and daughter, Katherine, of Brooklyn and Mr. and Mrs. Anson Polemus of Pine Bush.

Harlowe McLean is having his barn re-roofed. Mr. McLean, World War I overseas veteran, created quite a sensation locally when he recently cut his corn with a mowing machine instead of the conventional practice.

At last week's free chest clinic in Olive, 377 were listed as being X-rayed at the Olive Bridge Firehall and 351 at Onteora Central School.

Elwyn C. Davis, local resident, has in his prized collection of mementos the scrap book compiled by the late Henry Winchell who died 10 years ago. The large and meticulously compiled volume covers a period of happenings for over 70 years. The oldest dated (1886) is a completely detailed account of the trial and conviction and execution on the Kingston court house gallows of 17-year-old Louis Willett May 20, 1886. The old gallows constructed for the execution was on exhibit recently at the Kate Walton Field House and for many years has been stored in the court house attic. According to the article this is said to have been the second recorded execution in Ulster County. The previous one in the recollection of Mrs. Catherine Elmendorf of Hurley, then living at the ripe old age of 96, was that of a colored girl of 17 who was publicly executed by the drowning of her child in 1806. That execution took place at the intersection of Union Avenue, now Broadway, and Prince Street. The above excerpt is compiled from a supplement of the Kingston Argus of Thursday, May 20, 1886.

The article states the 12 jurors required by law to witness the Willett execution, all except the Miss Gaye C. Longyear, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Longyear Jr., of Mexico City, is now a student at the University of Denver, Colo. The Longyears are expected on a Christmas vacation, the first in three years, at the West Shokan Heights Davis farm home.

Mrs. Mae Shimer spending the winter with Mrs. Kate Oakley and son, Marion, on Acorn Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Kaufman and daughter, accompanied by Harlowe McLean, visited the Danbury Fair last week. An outstanding attraction was a riding exhibition by the Canadian Royal Mounted Police.

Arthur Eltinge, who has been kept busy since last spring as community well driller, has completed one for Lawrence Every's barn road cap property.

Arthur Plase has returned to his Long Island home after a 2 weeks' hunting trip, staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood. In addition to woodchucks, he bagged a gray fox.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I was just reading about the fire department going back to Aug. 8, 1907, when Mayor Walter P. Crane appointed members of the city's first fire board. The three men were Captain Benjamin J. Hornbeck, Louis Kolts, the well known wagon builder, and Charles A. Davis, popular retail butcher. It further said, that at the time, Capt. Hornbeck and Mr. Kolts were on the Common Council, which offices they resigned to accept the appointment of the new fire board. Mayor Crane appointed Grove Webster Jr. to succeed Kolts and E. Otis Van Aken to succeed Hornbeck on the council.

The partially paid fire department was inaugurated in Kingston Jan. 1, 1908, with a pair of fire horses stationed at the Wiltwyck Fire Station. Captain Peter Donnelly was put in charge of the team. The horses were named Wallie and Phil in honor of Mayor Walter P. Crane, and Philip Elting, at that time chairman of the Ulster County Republican party. A Foster Winfield, secretary of the Board of Public Works, told me there was also a team of fire horses at Cornell Hose on Abel Street. The horses were named Sam and Major. The driver of the team was Charles Morgan.

The new fire board started preliminary preparations Sept. 20, 1907, by installing horse stalls in the Cornell Fire House on Abel Street. Albert Mauterstock, the local contractor, did the work. They then wrote the board plan to put the chase and install stalls in the Weiner Horse House on Hasbrouck Avenue but not in the Wiltwyck Fire Station because they were so close to the Kelder livery stable.

It was said before they created the new fire board, when a fire alarm sounded, the nearest livery stable to the fire station sent over a team of horses to haul the apparatus to the fire. Now they thought that by the fire companies having their own horses in certain engine houses, there would be quicker response to fire alarms. Harry Legg, superintendent of the fire alarm system, rang in the new year and the change in the fire department.

It further said that Weber Hose Co. No. 3 was organized way back in 1869. They held a meeting on Mill Street Sept. 18, 1907, voting to disband the fire company which at that time had but 11 active members. The fire company was named in honor of George Weber, who was a former chief engineer of the Village of Rondout Fire Department, an active company at the time. Officers of the fire company were: John Greene President, James L. Brown, foreman; John Schupp, first assistant foreman; George Schupp, second assistant foreman; John Breithaupt, secretary and Peter Hoepf, treasurer.

SHOKAN—A group of out-of-town women here Sunday included Mrs. G. B. Corcoran, Lisle; Mrs. B. Northrup, Whitney Point; Mrs. George Beckman, Shandaken, and Mrs. Joseph Schoonmaker of Phoenicia.

Mrs. Corcoran, Woodstock, was mother and sister, respectively, of Mrs. Beckman. Also in Shokan Sunday were Rufus Johnson, Kelly Corners farmer and sawmill operator, and Everett Ellis, Fleischmanns farmer. They had been to Kingston to see John's brother, Kenneth of New Kingston, who has undergone surgery.

The Johnsons have a number of relatives in this section. Ellis is a neighbor of Sol Markle, a native of Shokan who has been farming there for many years, and now, at 75, has cut down his herd of dairy cattle to 15 head. Markle, older brother of Reuben Markle, Ellenville, and his father, Clarence, both were snare drummers in the famous Shokan Sheepskin Band of the long ago.

Resentment Rising Among Minority

Security Shakeup in Asian Provinces Hints Serious Trouble for Khrushchev

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press News Analyst

The Soviet press has just disclosed a shakeup in the security apparatus of some Soviet republics bordering on other Asian countries. The development hints at rising resentment among minority peoples in the Soviet Union, which may yet give Premier Nikita Khrushchev serious trouble.

The reason for the shakeups was internal. The announced changes came in Kazakhstan, Turkmenistan and Azerbaijan, each of which got a new Russian security chief.

For all his promises to minority nationalities, Khrushchev still exhibits a passion for pan-Slavism, meaning domination by the Great Russians over the minority peoples in other Soviet republics.

Kazakhstan, a sprawling province bordering Red China, seems to have been having serious troubles. Only recently the central magazine of the Soviet Communist party, Communist, complained of "bourgeois nationalism" in the Kazakh province. The term means any sort of opposition to Russian domination. The magazine flayed those elements opposing the study of the Russian language and of Russian culture.

In Uzbekistan, another Central Asian province, there have been hints that some opposition may have been violent. About a month ago, the central Moscow government gave a posthumous award to a member of the Young Communist League of Uzbekistan who had been "tragically murdered while standing guard over public order" in an Uzbek town.

In Turkmenistan the ruling Russians seem to have been having more and more trouble with the indigenous Turkmen people, who are kin to the Persians. Around the beginning of this year the party in the province underwent a thorough purge.

The first secretary of the Turkmen party, a local national named Babayev, was fired. Clearly his sin had been that of taking too seriously Moscow's promises of greater rights for the local nationalities. He had been slowly "de-Russifying" his organization.

The party organization went to work and denounced what it called a tendency to "pit cadres of indigenous nationalities against cadres of other nationalities." This, the party warned, was an "exceptionally harmful" approach.

Noted for Pan-Slavism

Khrushchev long has been noted for his pan-Slavism. For him, as well as for the rest of the leaders among the Great Russians, resistance to Russification is matter of international security. In Kazakhstan, the resistance may have assumed serious proportions. Moscow sent a big man to Kazakhstan to take over the job of security. Konstantin Fedorovich Lunev, the new security chief, has been deputy chairman of the central government's KGB (Committee of State Security), which succeeded the Stalinist MVD police organization. He was on the judicial board which approved the execution of Stalinist police boss Lavrenty Beria. The Kazakhstan job must be a big one to require the talents of such an expert.

Khrushchev himself has just concluded a tour of some of the provinces. He may have been a bit shaken by bold questions asked by ordinary people. When, they wanted to know, would consumer goods prices go down? Khrushchev replied by asking them to be "realistic."

Hep to Situation

When would there be better goods, better housing? Khrushchev replied that the question was legitimate enough, but he was no miracle man and couldn't produce these things overnight.

Nobody was bold enough to ask Khrushchev when there might be a letup in the Russification and the extension of rights to local minorities he had promised. But the security system shakeup indicates Khrushchev knows the question is being asked behind his back.

Wagner Requests Special Session On Youth Crime

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner has asked for a special session of the Legislature to enact laws to quell youth crime in New York City.

Wagner advanced his "anti-juvenile delinquency" program on Thursday and urged that it be considered at a special session of the State Legislature to be called by Gov. Rockefeller.

The next regular session of the Legislature starts Jan. 6.

Among the suggested laws: Lower the age of prosecution of major crimes from the current 16 to 15.

License all dealers in rifles and shotguns and require them to keep proper records of all their transactions.

A punishable offense for anyone under 21 to possess in public a knife or sharp-pointed or cutting instrument.

A weapon found on a public sidewalk near a group of persons, and indicating that the weapon had been discarded by a member of the group, would constitute evidence of illegal possession by all members of the group.

Politics Course Given by C of C Starts Nov. 5th

The first group in the Political Participation Program offered to members by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce will start on Thursday, November 5.

Twelve individuals have already signed up for the course. Enrollment in each group will be limited to eighteen.

This program is a course of nine weekly lessons in practical politics. It is non-partisan in nature and is designed to have more people understand our American political system and encourage more citizens to take an active part in the party of their choice.

It is anticipated that more groups will be organized. Those interested in enrolling may contact the Chamber office. Within the next 10 days a general notice will be mailed to the membership about the course.

Those who have already signed up for the Political Participation Program are members of the Economic Discussion Groups No. 1 and 2, which are currently completing the 17 week course. ## Patrice, Protege At Odds About Errol's Funeral

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Errol Flynn's estranged third wife and his 17-year-old protege are both determined to take charge of his funeral services in Hollywood.

Patrice Wymore flew here Thursday from Washington to arrange the final rites for the swash-buckling actor, who died of a heart attack in Vancouver, B.C., Wednesday night.

Asked where Flynn would be buried, the pale, trembling Miss Wymore said she is making arrangements to have the body brought to Hollywood.

But blonde Beverly Aadland, who was with the actor when he died in Vancouver, apparently intends to contest Miss Wymore's rights. She said she and the 50-year-old Flynn planned to marry and live in Jamaica after he obtained his divorce.

Her mother Florence Aadland said Beverly would bring Flynn's body back to Hollywood.

Miss Wymore, estranged from Flynn for two years, declined to comment on the girl's plans, aside from saying: "She seems to be very sincere."

She said that in addition to her plans for Hollywood funeral for Flynn she may arrange memorial rites in Jamaica, which Flynn regarded as his home.

Vancouver crowds flocked to the mortuary to get a glimpse of Flynn's body. Police had to lock the building.

An autopsy showed Flynn had died of coronary thrombosis. The coroner said examination showed hardening of the arteries, fatty degeneration of the liver, and an infection of the lower intestine. "His was the body of a tired, old man—old before his time, and sick," the coroner said.

Daly, manager of education at International Business Machines Corp., Kingston, was moderator.

Discussions of the future of machines in technical writing were presented by F. Santarelli, Robert E. Hohmann, and Thomas E. Digan, all of IBM, Kingston. Automatic translation of Russian articles into English invoked many questions. Robert C. Fouhy, past president of the Mid-Hudson chapter was the moderator.

Tape recordings of the talks were made by Austin C. Farrell, secretary of the Mid-Hudson Chapter. Copies when completed can be obtained from him at IBM, Poughkeepsie.

VA Advises That Pension Action Wait Until 1960

Veterans and widows of veterans eligible for pensions under the Veterans Pension Act of 1960 should take no action on claims until after the first of the year.

This was announced today by George M. Vidas, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office, Watervliet Arsenal, through F. William Sheehan, officer in charge of the local V.A. office, Rooms 201-203, main post office building.

"If you wait until the early part of 1960, both you and the VA will benefit," Sheehan said, pointing out that approximately 277,000 new cases will become eligible under the act which becomes effective July 1.

"Of these 74 per cent will be widows and children of veterans made eligible by the widows equalization clause and 26 per cent will be living veterans, widows and children made eligible by increase in income limitation," Sheehan said.

"The VA will avoid premature correspondence and interviews and after the first of the year you will be able to estimate better your income from the calendar year 1960."

Sheehan said that those who believe they will become eligible after June 30, 1960 should not worry about delay at this time. "File application with the VA within the first few months of 1960. This will allow ample time for processing by the July 1 effective date."

The Kingston office serves five counties, Ulster, Delaware, Sullivan, Otsego and Greene.

gible evidence of our confidence in the continued growth of the region.

Company's Largest

The Danskammer station is the largest generating installation on the Central Hudson System and represents more than 80 per cent of the system's total capability.

The station as it now stands is really three plants in one. The first two units each has a boiler as high as a ten story building and the new third unit's boiler is as tall as a 12 story structure. The three units, at full capacity, will gulp over 1500 tons of finely powdered coal a day.

The coal, principally from the Fairmont, W. Va. area, is continuously shipped by railroad to the site and approximately 80,000 tons of 1600 carloads are maintained in storage at all times.

About 240,000,000 gallons of Hudson River water are used each day to cool and condense the steam that turns the turbine-generators. After being used, this water is returned to the river actually cleaner than when taken out. Each of the three turbine-generators spins at 3600 revolutions per minute.

One of Most Efficient

Since the first unit went into operation in 1951, Danskammer has consistently been among the most efficient for its size in the nation. The station is operated and manned on a 24-hour basis every day of the year. Its staff now includes 120 employees as compared to 63 when the first unit went into operation eight years ago.

In order to handle the increased output of Danskammer as a result of the addition to Unit No. 3, Central Hudson expanded its Danskammer, North Chelsea and Reynolds Hill, Poughkeepsie substations and constructed two new major high voltage transmission lines at an additional investment of about $1,500,000.

One of the new lines is encased in steel pipe and runs from Danskammer under the Hudson River to the east shore near Chelsea and is designated to reinforce the supply of electricity to the southern Dutchess County area.

The other new line runs from Danskammer up the west shore to Highland, crosses the river over the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad bridge and provides an additional power supply to the Greater Poughkeepsie area.

Other existing transmission lines connect Danskammer Point steam station with communities throughout, the company's 2500 square mile service area and with neighboring utilities.

Edward Saunders Honored for 30 Years With C-H

Edward E. Saunders, 22 Broadway, Kingston, was honored Thursday on the occasion of his 30th anniversary of service with the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation.

He was cited for his long utility career and received a service emblem from Central Hudson president, Ernest R. Acker at ceremonies at the company's general office in Poughkeepsie.

Saunders joined Central Hudson on August 22, 1929 at the company's Kingston Gas Works. He served in several gas production posts and since August of this year has been assigned as a gas streetman in Kingston.

The utility veteran is a member of the Central Hudson Employees Quarter Century Club.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—At least two of the nine proposed constitutional amendments to be put to New York voters Nov. 3 have the endorsement of Gov. Rockefeller. But he declines to say how he intends to vote on one proposal—the controversial plan to allow New York City to borrow a half-billion dollars above its constitutional debt limit for new school construction.

Rockefeller claimed the privilege of "secret ballot" when newsmen asked him Thursday how he would vote on the bond proposal—No. 4 on the ballot.

The governor said, however, he thought the proposal deserved sympathetic consideration by the voters.

Rockefeller said he would vote for proposed amendment No. 6, which would authorize the Legislature to transfer control of the

Long and Bitter Fight
For Freedom of the Press

By BERNARD GAVZER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Today's newspapers may differ sharply on political issues, domestic problems, international affairs—but there's one area in which most would quickly join hands to fight a common cause. This is when they sense some action that abridges freedom of the press.

Newspapers have frequently expressed alarm at the manner in which some states and some government agencies restrict access to information. Reporters have been shut off from what they believe is public news by closed doors of government bodies.

But when the wall of secrecy is breached and the news published, at least the editors and publishers can feel safe that they will not be thrown in jail.

A newspaper which criticizes the government—whether it be the person of the President or the chairman of a local water board—can do so without fearing reprisals. Such was not the case from almost the moment the first American newspaper, Public Occurrences, was published in Boston in 1690 by Benjamin Harris. The paper was suppressed after one issue, not because of libel, but because of the truth. Harris' report describing Indian allies as "miserable savages" was taken as criticism of colonial policy.

Zenger Significant

The most significant milestone on the road to press freedom was reached in the case involving John Peter Zenger, a German immigrant.

Publishing the New York Journal, Zenger attacked William Cosby, governor of New York, and subsequently was charged with "scandalous, virulent and seditious reflections upon the government."

When the grand jury refused to return a true bill, and the New York Assembly refused to take separate action, Cosby prodded his council into taking action. Zenger was brought to trial in 1735 on a reduced charge of "raising sedition."

Two defense attorneys who disputed the warrant against Zenger were disbarred, and the court appointed a defense counsel. But at the moment of the trial, Philadelphia lawyer Andrew Hamilton, entered the picture as counsel for Zenger.

Did Not Deny Publication

He took a dramatic step by stating that the defense did not deny publication of the critical articles. His argument was that it is not libel to print the truth.

The jury responded to this argument and freed Zenger. Thus, one of the great steps toward press freedom was accomplished.

An equally big stride involved another Hamilton—Alexander. This was in the celebrated case involving Harry Crosswell, editor of "The Wasp," a Federalist paper published at Hudson, N. Y. The paper was aptly named because Crosswell managed to sting many a foe.

He was indicted in 1804 and found guilty. Appealing the verdict, he again went to trial, this time with Hamilton defending. Like Andrew Hamilton, Alexander argued that the truth and truth alone was a defense in a libel action.

He stated that the press had "the right to publish with impunity truth, with good motives, for justifiable ends, through reflecting on government, magistracy, or individuals."

Laws Were Model

Following the case, new laws were passed using Hamilton's formula. Additionally, the laws stated that the jury had the right to determine both the law and the fact. These laws served as the model for the press guarantees of many state constitutions.

Prior to the Crosswell case—during a period some historians have called the "Dark Ages of Journalism"—there was a political and journalistic battle between the Federalists and anti-Federalists. So seclusive were attacks by anti-Federalists, the Alien and Sedition Acts were passed.

The Sedition Act, directed against journalistic spokesmen of the anti-Federalists, stated in part "that if any person shall write, utter or publish . . . any false, scandalous and malicious writing . . . against the government of the United States, or either house of the Congress . . . or the said President . . . or to excite against them the hatred of the good people of the United States . . . or to resist or oppose, or defeat any such law . . . shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $2,000, and by imprisonment not exceeding two years."

Lapsed After Two Years

The weakness in the act lay in its administration, but some historians have interpreted it as really setting down legally for the first time the defense stated in the Zenger trial. The law did not forbid criticism of the government, it only attempted to curb malicious and false statements published to defame officials. But because of the way authorities abused it, the law was permitted to lapse after its two-year limit.

To many authorities, the battle flag in the crusade for press freedom was first raised in England by poet John Milton, in his speech to Parliament in 1644. The speech, "Areopagitica," was an argument for the right to express himself in print without having that expression approved in advance. It was essentially a cry against pre-censorship.

Root beer gets its flavor partly from the spicy root bark of the North American sassafras tree. Centuries ago, the Indians considered it good medicine. As "ague root," sassafras was shipped to Europe from Massachusetts by the first colonists. Though enormous quantities were exported at one time, very little is now used. Modern doctors use sassafras mainly for flavoring.

Carrier Boys
Solid Citizens
Of Tomorrow

By FINIS MOTHERSHEAD

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The nation's 700,000 newspaper carrier boys are a bright, glowing statistic against the often dreary juvenile delinquency picture: fewer than one in 200 carriers gets his name on the police blotter.

This is a figure from FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover, himself a one-time newspaper boy. It's one the International Circulation Managers Association cites with more than casual pride.

The circulation men are calling the matter to public attention as part of the Oct. 17 observance of Newspaper Boy Day. This is the 20th year the association has sponsored the day in the United States and 20 other countries.

Jack Estes, secretary-treasurer of the ICMA, says the earnings of these junior business men who deliver newspapers to your door amount to $2,600,000,000 a year.

Pay for College

Thousands pay their way through college from their profits. Estes and his staff estimate the newspaper boys, seeking to encourage further studies by high school graduates, distribute $500,000 a year in scholarships.

Circulation managers, as well as authorities concerned with juvenile problems, consider it self-evident that a newspaper route keeps a boy too busy for idle mischief, teaches responsibility, self reliance, poise in dealing with the public and the benefits of free enterprise.

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay of the United States Air Force, another former newspaper boy, said in connection with this year's observance of Newspaper Boy Day:

"Newspaper boys have become a tradition in our American way of life, and have established their position as reliable and contributing members of the society of this nation."

"At an early age they assume responsibility for supplying their fellow Americans with vital information on the news of the world. Furthermore, they acquire constructive work habits early in life, and in so doing become members of that valuable group of Americans who are not afraid to work."

Good Grades Count Reports to the International Circulation Managers Assn. show more and more newspapers, in position to choose from applicants for delivery routes, are accepting only boys whose grades in school rank them above average.

"Generally," says Estes "the preference is for boys to start on the job at around 13—old enough that they're ready for some responsibility but still young enough not to spend all their time thinking about which girl they want to ask for a date."

As evidence of what the training men have found that a list of former newspaper boys in nearly any town or city is apt to read like a local who's who.

It's the same story at the national level. Among the ex-newspaper boys cited at random by the ICMA are Herbert C. Hoover, Joseph W. Martin, Albert B. (Happy) Chandler, Thomas E. Dewey, Maurice J. Tobin, Earl Warren, Walt Disney, Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Harold Lloyd, Fred M. Vinson, Thomas C. Clark, Roy W. Howard, Frank E. Gannett, William O. Douglas, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, Benjamin F. Fairless and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Troy Hotel Fire Is $50,000 Loss

TROY, N. Y. (AP)—A 150-year-old building, opened last February as a hotel and restaurant, was destroyed by fire Thursday. The loss was estimated at $50,000. Two adults and a child escaped safely.

The 25-room structure, known as the Springwood Manor Hotel, was in a wooded section in the southern section of the city. Firemen laid 1,600 feet of hose to fight the flames in the two-story frame structure, formerly a private home.

Mrs. Mariana Dolan, the owner, estimated the loss.

Mrs. Dolan said sparks from a fireplace may have set fire to the wooden shingle roof.

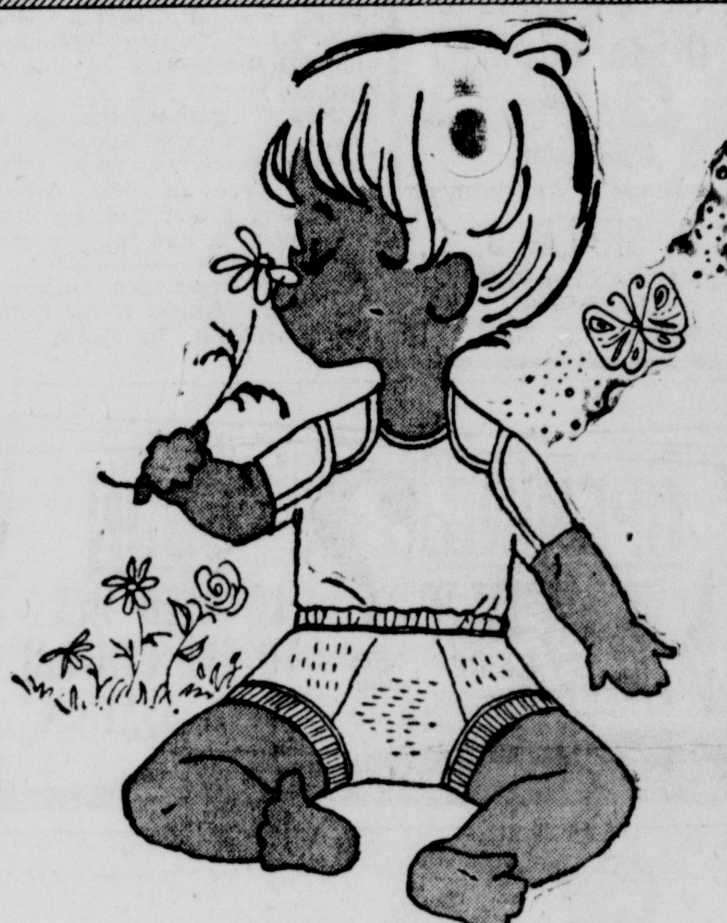

First clocks were the marked off shadows of trees.

Small Game

This fall will see many a hunter out for small game in areas near New York City. Licensed hunters for small game in Connecticut total about 56,000; in New Jersey, 130,000; and in New York State, 600,000. Open seasons differ for the various types of game and among states. For on-the-spot information on seasons and bag limits, get in touch with your state's conservation department or with your local game protector.

Four types of small game are the most popular in the tri-state area. In New York State the most sought after small game is the ring-necked pheasant, followed by the cottontail rabbit, gray squirrel and ruffed grouse, according to a survey made by the New York State Conservation Department in 1956. In Connecticut and New Jersey the same four types of game rate high with hunters, but in different order. In Connecticut the most popular is rabbit, then squirrel, pheasant, and grouse. In New Jersey rabbit also leads the list, followed by pheasant, squirrel and grouse.

RABBIT. Wild rabbits undoubtedly constitute the largest and most generally available supply of game in the United States, says Extension Specialists. Each year hunters take over 45 million rabbits—more than any other kind of game, big or small.

PHOENIX. The ring-necked pheasant was reportedly first introduced into our country by George Washington in 1789. But it was not until 1881, when the U. S. Consul General at Shanghai shipped 28 pheasants to Oregon, that the pheasant became a game bird in this country. In New York State pheasants thrived particularly well in the rich farm country of the Lake Plains along the southern shore of Lake Ontario, and open seasons in portions of that area date from 1908. Today it is estimated that over 8 million pheasants are taken by hunters throughout the nation each year.

SQUIRREL. Little is known of the origin of the squirrel in this country, but squirrels were here to greet the colonists and have been an important contribution to the game bag ever since. The gray bannertail, also known as the black and cat squirrel, is widespread in New York State. It shuns only the higher elevations of the Adirondacks and Catskills.

GROUSE. Many kind of grouse are hunted as game birds, but the most outstanding American species is the widely-distributed ruffed grouse. In Connecticut and New York State the grouse is known as a partridge; in Pennsylvania it is called a mountain quail. Grouse are generally considered the most difficult to hunt of all the upland game birds.

Small game may be more costly than you think. It is tempting to think that the game hunters bag will be less expensive than store purchased meat. Chances are, however, the game will be a rather expensive meat, say Extension specialists, if you count the cost of shells, guns, wading boots, and bird dogs. But the interest is the adventure of hunting, preparing, and eating the seasonal meat from the outdoors; money costs are of lesser concern.

Dress small game without delay. Eliminate the great waste of game meat which occurs each season by properly bleeding, dressing, and cooling your catch. Game should be dressed soon after killing to delay spoilage caused by bacteria and by animal body heat. Fortunately, too, it is easier to eviscerate and skin game animals and to pluck game birds while they are still warm. Remember to keep your catch cool, and to transport it in the open air—over your shoulder or in a ventilated car. Once home, promptly store the meat in a refrigerator, cold room, or freezer.

Know how to dress small game. Rabbits and squirrels can be skinned in much the same manner. Hang the carcass up by the right hind leg on a nail inserted near the hock joint and between the tendon and bone of the leg. Remove the head and front feet; cut off the tail and left hind foot. All cuts should be made clean to prevent splintering the bone or making a rough surface on the meat. Next cut the pelt around the right hind leg at the hock. Slit the pelt on the inside of the leg to the root of the tail. Cut the fat away from the pelt; then, using both hands, firmly pull the pelt down over the carcass.

After the skin is removed, cut the animal open down the stomach, being sure to break the bone between the hind legs. Eviscerate it, and wipe the carcass thoroughly with a clean cloth or dry leaves.

Promptly draw and cool game birds. Draw pheasant and grouse and cool the bird as soon as possible, although leaving the feathers on until you return home is optional. A too-common practice among hunters is not to eviscerate the birds but to put them in the automobile trunk and forget them until the destination is reached. With no chance for the body heat to escape, the meat spoils.

Know the quality marks of small game. The same rules used to judge quality of meat apply to game. A plump, stocky carcass with full joints and well-covered ribs is more desirable than a rangy and angular one. Wild game is generally less tender than domestic types of meat. But like other meats, game improves with a little aging. Refrigerate most game at least two days before cooking it.

Cook small game to bring out its best flavor and texture. The general rule of meat cookery—use of moderately low temperatures—applies to small game. The time required for cooking is similar to that required for cooking the same amount of chicken.

For best results, cook small game by age. Most of the game taken this season will be young. Young and tender game may be cooked by dry heat (roasting, broiling, or frying). Older, less-tender game is best cooked by moist heat (stewing or braising). Game is usually roasted, broiled, or braised, because frying requires very young game and stewing may destroy part of the delicate game flavor.

To tell the approximate age of game, be guided by these signs: Young rabbits and squirrels will be lighter in weight than older ones and their bodies will be more flexible; they will have soft, pliable ears and hard, sharp teeth. The jaws of mature game birds are set. Hence, if you can lift the bird by its lower jaw without sign of breaking it, you will know that it is an older bird. The spurs on a cock pheasant are long and sharp for an old bird but are blunt for the young pheasant.

The meat of small game contains little fat and needs to be well basted. Melted butter, margarine, or bacon fat may be used. Bacon fat, however, may mask the flavor.

Rabbits need no soaking or parboiling before cooking, but you may soak them if you like a mild flavor. To cook rabbit by braising, follow these steps suggested by the New York State College of Home Economics: Dredge the pieces of rabbit with flour. Brown the pieces slowly in a small amount of fat in a heavy skillet or Dutch oven, turning to brown all sides. Season. Add a small amount of liquid (1 to 4 tablespoons), cover the pan tightly, and simmer until the meat is tender, 1 to 1½ hours. Turn the meat occasionally. To brown and crisp the surface, remove the cover before the meat is done. Serve with gravy made from pan drippings.

You may store small game in the freezer. When game is to be frozen, skin or pluck it, draw it, and cool it overnight. Have the game thoroughly clean and dry. Wrap the meat in moisture-vaporproof material. If freezer space is limited, keep just the meatiest pieces for freezing. Store game in a freezer at 0 degrees F. or lower.

At the Markets

FRUITS: Apples remain the top buy among fruits. Leading varieties include McIntosh, Delicious, Cortland, and Rhode Island Greenings. Other fruits in good to moderate supply remain about unchanged from recent weeks. Limes are very plentiful. Orange and lemon offerings are moderate. Western Bartlett pears, Tokay grapes, and Italian prunes are also in good supply.

VEGETABLES: Nearby potatoes dominate the vegetable situation. Increased offerings of fall spinach from New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut are available at reasonable prices. Sweet potatoes, small and medium yellow onions, cabbage, beets, acorn and butternut squash, and the cooking greens—all from nearby producing areas—are in fairly heavy supply. Cucumbers, snap beans, and Brussels sprouts are available in moderate quantities.

FISH: Frozen fishery products in cold storage on September 1 were about 20 per cent greater than a year earlier. Items in good supply include filets of cod, flounder, haddock, and ocean perch; fish sticks and portions; lobster, scallops, clams, and shrimp.

The supply of canned fishery products will be much smaller this year than last year. The salmon pack will be the smallest on record, largely because of a disastrous season for Alaskan fisheries where the pack is down by 44 per cent. The West Coast salmon pack was the smallest in years. Sardine supplies are also expected to be low. The Maine pack is off sharply. In California fishing operations have been delayed. However, canned tuna is in good supply and is expected to remain so through the next few months.

MEATS: Retail meat prices continue to edge downward under the influence of seasonally large supplies. Markets are offering many meats at specially reduced prices. Pork continues to head the list of plentiful meats with prices of most cuts well below year ago levels. Lamb marketings have been somewhat heavier in the past few weeks, reflecting a 2 per cent increase in the year's lamb crop. This year's record turkey crop is moving to market in larger numbers. The crop of small or family-size turkey was up 23 per cent this year. So, turkey will be plentiful from now through the end of the year.

Christmas Island was discovered by Captain James Cook on Christmas of 1777 and named for that day.

Are you a Unitarian without knowing it?

1. Do you believe the Bible to be an inspiring human document, rather than the literal "Word of God?"
2. Do you believe that man is not condemned by the doctrine of "original sin," but is inherently capable of improvement?
3. Do you believe the development of character to be more important than the accepting of religious creeds?
4. Do you believe the purpose of religion is to help us live this life nobly and constructively, rather than to emphasize the preparation for an after-existence?

The Unitarian answers are affirmative. Join with other religious liberals who insist upon individual freedom of belief and the use of reason in religion.

World Community Day of Prayer Will Be Observed Locally Friday, Nov. 6

World Community Day will be observed by the United Church Women of Kingston Friday, Nov. 6, at the First Presbyterian Church, 80 Elmendorf Street at 8 p. m. "Partners for Peace" will be the theme. Since it began in 1943, the day has been observed the first Friday in November and dedicated to the purpose of encouraging all church women to work together in their communities for a more christian world order. Through it, attitudes can be developed and actions taken which will help build the foundation for a world at peace. World Community Day also makes possible the education for peace program of United Church Women. In the effort to create a sense of world community, study is initiated on the work of the United Nations and questions related to a constructive foreign policy. Action is suggested to carry out convictions into definite measures. The women of Kingston will have a hand in the education and training of their sisters in two spots on the globe some 10,000 miles apart. The new country of Ghana in Africa and South Seas are the places where women will be helped to adjust to their new roles in society. These two places have been chosen for special World Community Day projects, Miss Ethel M. Hull, president of the local council of church women, announced today. Offerings will be made for them through more than 2,300 local and state councils of church women throughout the country. Through world community day observance, another important service will be made possible. Layettes and clothing for infants and small children now living in refugee camps around the world will be shipped overseas. It is estimated that 30 million persons in the world today are refugees. Members are asked to bring to the church on World Community Day, new or used clothes for children, layettes, and clothes for tiny tots, also yarns and yardage material to encourage mothers in the struggle to care for their families. Eight cents should be included for each pound of your gift package for handling and shipping overseas.

Chairman Reports Marine Ball Plans Are Progressing

Arrangements for the 13th annual Marine Corps League Ball to be held at Tropical Inn, Port Ewen, Saturday evening, Nov. 14, are progressing favorably, John Ray Mayone, chairman said today. The ball is sponsored annually by Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League of Kingston. Gilbert E. Gray, detachment commandant, said he is looking for the ball to be an outstanding success in order that the Marine Corps League may expand its scholarship program which next year will provide scholarship funds for three or more deserving Ulster County high school graduates. Mayone said the proceeds will also provide funds for the Marine Corps League's state convention to be held in Kingston in June. He said an excellent stage show has been booked, and the committee is currently negotiating for the services of an outstanding orchestra. To avoid disappointment, Mayone said that all those wishing to attend the ball should phone him for table reservations. In the 13 years the ball has been staged, he said, it has grown from a small organization dance to one of the autumn season's highlights in Kingston. It plays to increasingly larger crowds each year, and has been accepted by the general public of Ulster County as an annual feature, Mayone said. The scholarship program of the league was initiated this year.

Mae West Won't Appear Tonight On Person Show

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Times change, but not men. And that's good.

This is the considered opinion of Mae West, who suggests she knows men best. In an interview Thursday, the seemingly ageless symbol of sex said there is a possible exception to her appraisal of the male species.

That would be the gentleman who telephoned her in the Presidential Suite of the St. Francis Hotel and informed her that CBS had canceled her appearance — scheduled for tonight — on television's Person to Person show.

The show was taped earlier in her luxurious Hollywood apartment. In it the famed show business star responded to questions by Charles Collingwood, subbing for Edward R. Murrow.

She said a CBS official, whose name she didn't catch, told her certain parts of the show were "questionable." In Hollywood, a network spokesman termed them as "too hot to handle."

"I just can't imagine why they would cancel the show," Mae told San Francisco newsmen. "The gentleman said when he called that he hoped I wouldn't be disappointed. Well, of course — but I'm sure my public will be more disappointed."

In her place tonight will be Mr. and Mrs. James Mason, film folk. Mae said the cancellation was a complete surprise. She had come to San Francisco to plug her latest book — her memoirs: "Goodness Had Nothing to Do With."

The tape was seen by newsmen in New York. Afterward, a CBS spokesman said nothing in specific was objectionable but that parts of the show "might be misinterpreted."

Mae added this note: "And I was dressed modestly — in a full-length black gown. Not low cut."

Explorer 6 Silent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Explorer VI, the Paddle Wheel satellite, has lost its voice after just two months of whirling in space.

Its sun-powered radios had been expected to last the life of the satellite, more than a year.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Thursday that the 142-pound moon went silent Oct. 6. Why was the announcement delayed? "We had hoped the signals might start up again," a spokesman said.

Ruling Due by Monday

Governor to Weigh Fate of Chessman With Much Prayer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — "That's it and I'll do a lot of praying." With those words, Gov. Edmund G. Brown closed a three-hour clemency hearing Thursday that may mean life or death for Caryl Chessman.

Brown opposes capital punishment. He spoke of the scheduled execution of the 38-year-old convict-author a week from today as "that Roman holiday."

No Hint of Decision

But the governor gave no hint whether he'll commute the death sentence to life behind bars — without hope of parole — or let Chessman die in the San Quentin gas chamber.

Brown said he would announce his decision before Monday. Noting Chessman's 11½ years in death row, he said, "I'm going to make a ruling one way or another and then I'm through."

Chessman, in a letter last week, demanded "vindication or death."

His attorneys, however, pleaded for a commutation.

Chessman was convicted in 1948 as a Los Angeles "lone" lane bandit who forced two girls into acts of sexual depravity. He got the death penalty on two counts of kidnaping for robbery with bodily harm.

Convinced of Crimes

Brown made it clear at the outset he's convinced Chessman committed those crimes. Chessman, in his long fight in the courts and in his prison-written books, has insisted he was innocent.

The defense's big point was that Chessman was condemned on a technical charge of kidnapping and that he didn't kill anyone.

But Chessman's prosecutor, Deputy Dist. Atty. J. Miller Leavy of Los Angeles, called the mental hospital commitment of one of Chessman's victims — a 17-year-old girl — a living death.

"This bothers me," Brown interjected.

"Would not 11½ years in death row plus life imprisonment . . . would not that satisfy the ends of justice in this matter rather than have that Roman holiday at San Quentin next Friday?"

"Not in my opinion," Leavy replied.

Chessman's attorneys have succeeded in staving off six execution dates.

Davis planned to file a new appeal before the United States Supreme Court today.

UAW Votes Hike For Reuther and Other Officials

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The United Auto Workers convention has given President Walter P. Reuther and other officers pay raises based on a formula which the union considers noninflationary.

The convention voted by a substantial margin Thursday 3 per cent salary increases each year for the next three years. In the auto industry, UAW members get comparable increases each year.

They are based on the theory that the industry's productivity increases about 3 per cent each year.

But the delegates by a close vote rejected a proposal to give union officers cost-of-living increases in addition to the 3 per cent annual improvement. Production workers get increases if the cost of living goes up.

Reuther gets $22,000 a year. He was given a $2,000 raise two years ago.

In recommending the 3 per cent increase, Harry Southwell, of Detroit, president of the Constitution Committee, said heads of the Steelworkers and the Teamsters made $50,000 and the committee felt its recommendation was modest.

Before voting to raise salaries, the convention gave Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) a big ovation after he attacked the Eisenhower administration as reactionary and praised the political action program of the UAW.

The 15-minute demonstration for Humphrey, who appeared as a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, was the most enthusiastic given any speaker at the eight-day convention.

Outlook Better For Coast Blaze

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The prospect of favorable wind conditions stirred modest optimism today as 2,000 men opened the fourth day of fighting against a hungry foothill brush fire.

The sprawling fire, blamed on a careless smoker, was still out of control after covering more than 7,200 acres northeast of Los Angeles. Officials said they couldn't estimate when it might be tamed.

But the county fire department said the situation was improving.

The fire was fiercest on its northwestern front, where it pushed into Big Tujunga Canyon.

Two to three dozen residents of La Paloma Flats in the canyon were evacuated Thursday night and taken to Tujunga, in the extreme northeast section of Los Angeles. But the fire had reached none of the homes in this area.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 16—Last night I sat in the lounge of the Grand Hotel with representatives of prominent American corporations who were here in the beautiful city of Stockholm to spend the weekend. Their chief subject of discussion was what will happen to U. S. labor as a result of increasing imports from Europe.

European Industry Booming

Every one of these men is leaving tremendous orders for machine parts which will be sent to the U. S. and assembled into consumer products now being manufactured in the United States. They classify all the way from bicycles to motorboats, with automobiles, of course, leading the way. Surely new autos made in the U. S. will not stop the flow of new cars coming from Europe. Today I saw a new Dauphine car selling in Paris for $835 (with U. S. model priced from about $950-$1100).

Not only are the European common market and outer seven countries competing with the United States, but they are competing with each other to give our U. S. manufacturers both higher quality and lower prices. These European manufacturers pay 80 cents to one dollar per hour for skilled male employees and from 60 cents to 75 cents per hour for female employees, who apparently can do the work just as well. Executives who would secure annual salaries of $25,000 per year in the U. S. receive only about $5,000 here in Europe. They, moreover, are very able men.

More Modern Machinery

It is not only a difference of wages, but also of spirit and ambition of the workers and of the models of the machinery used. Recently, I had dinner in Halmstad, Sweden at the lovely home of the Swedish manufacturer of razor blades for the Schick-Eversharp Injector razor, which I personally use. He is making and wrapping these blades on new high-speed machines not yet introduced in the U. S. Incidentally, I am told that the "Gripsholm," the newest passenger ship now sailing the Atlantic Ocean, was constructed in Italy, furnished in France, all with money raised in Sweden.

What About Labor Unions?

Many in the U. S. think that Europe has no labor unions. This is not true. All the countries have labor unions and, I am told, this even applies to Russia. The fact also is that the labor leaders who operate these unions are intelligent and reasonable. They are sometimes government appointed. These unions are subject to the same laws and taxes to which the management associations are subject.

The main difference between the European unions and those in the U. S. is that labor leaders and union members in the U. S. appear to have very little interest in either their employers or the consumers who are to use their products. In Europe these labor leaders and members are anxious for their employers to make fair profits and for the consumers to enjoy their products. This difference is the main reason why U. S. manufacturers are buying so many parts in Europe to put into products to sell in the U. S., and are even making the entire products to sell in Europe and various countries abroad.

What About Tariffs?

All these U. S. manufacturers who are visiting Europe — at least those whom I meet — are griping against our State Department in Washington. They claim that our State Department is even rude to them, telling them that if they cannot compete with Europe in manufacturing costs they had better "sell out" and "refire from business." Of course, what our manufacturers want is higher tariffs. Our State Department tells our U. S. manufacturers that such higher tariffs would eventually result in World War 3.

Large merchandisers such as Sears, Roebuck & Co. are making big profits importing finished household products from all European countries and also from Japan. They want tariffs kept low. They praise our State Department for their present stand. Therefore, my conclusion is that present tariff relations will continue and will result in much more unemployment in the U. S. This, however, should teach us all a good lesson — both wage workers and employers: it may be a "blessing in disguise."

THOMAS A. EDISON

80 YEARS YOUNG

An electric light bulb which burned out eighty years ago on October 21, 1879, signaled the dawn of a new era—an era in which electricity would make possible advances in civilization which could not have been imagined by even so farsighted a man as the 32-year old inventor, Thomas A. Edison.

Edison had already devoted months of research and experimentation to the development of an incandescent electric light, when he began the test of a lamp using carbonized thread as a filament. For forty tense hours, Edison and his associates kept watch over the glowing filament inside a glass bulb. Then Edison stepped up the voltage until the bulb completed its career in a blaze of glory.

The first practical incandescent lamp was a major "breakthrough" in the development of Edison's revolutionary electric system—the forerunner of today's great electric power industry. In the span of a man's lifetime, electricity has wrought changes which would have challenged the imagination of Jules Verne. Tasks as old as civilization—from washing clothes to milking cows—no longer depend on human muscle.

From the very beginning, America's investor-owned electric light and power companies—companies like Central Hudson—have been the primary force in bringing the benefits of electricity to the people of this nation.

Now, take aluminum ladders—they're wonderful for the man about the house—lightweight, easy to use, keep their finish, never wear out.

But, look, watch your step while you are using one. An aluminum ladder is a beautiful electrical conductor, too! When you are moving about, never get one tangled up with overhead electric wires. Keep clear!

SPACE JOURNEY

According to what we read in the newspapers, we have already passed through the Atomic Age and the Hydrogen Age and are now in the Space Age! The term itself denotes an awesome era—men on the moon, commercial space ships orbiting Mars, other journeys that will make Buck Rogers and Flash Gordon look like pikers.

There's one space journey you can take right now—comfortably—to The Land of Nod! Did you ever sleep under an electric blanket? If not, you don't know what you're missing.

We notice that certain dealers are offering an electric blanket free home trial. Try one! We think you will agree that for downright comfort there's nothing can equal such an adventure into sleep.

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

Like things dry... like dry ginger ale or dry martinis? Then you'll like natural gas for home heating. It's a bone-dry fuel, not a wet fuel! So what? Well, the other day we got talking to a man who had used gas for heating for 27 years—same furnace and never a breakdown or new part in all those years. "And, besides," he said, "I haven't had the thing cleaned in a number of years. Don't have to—no soot, no dirt, no clogging. Everything burns as clean as a whistle!"

Something to remember when you're totaling up the cost to heat your home—dry gas means fewer service calls!

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

CINNAMON APPLE SALAD

6 apples
1 cup sugar
1½ cups water
6 tbs. cinnamon drops
1½ pkgs. cream cheese (3 oz. pkg.)
2 tbs. cream
2 tbs. celery, finely chopped
2 tbs. nuts, finely chopped
¾ tsp. salt

Boil sugar and water together with the cinnamon drops for 5 min. Pare and core the apples and cook them in the syrup slowly, so they do not lose their shape, basting and turning frequently so they are evenly colored. Drain and chill thoroughly. Just before serving, fill the centers of the apples with the cream cheese which has been softened with the cream and mixed with the celery, nuts and salt. Serves 6.

WE'RE 20 YEARS AHEAD

Although the United States has only about 6% of the world's population, this country produced 32.7% of all the electricity generated in the world in 1958, according to figures recently released by the Edison Electric Institute. Our total output exceeded that of the next seven countries combined—Russia, the United Kingdom, Canada, Western Germany, Japan, France and Italy.

In production per capita, the United States is far ahead of Russia. In 1958 about 4,140 kilowatt-hours were produced for every American, nearly four times the Russian per capita production of 1,115 kilowatt-hours. In output per capita the Soviet Union is about where the U. S. was in 1938—some 20 years behind.

ABOUT SHUNPIKES

Last week we discussed turnpikes. This week it's shunpikes! In the old days when there were many toll roads people used to bypass them by traveling a parallel road, often more crooked and roundabout, but they did escape paying toll. These roads became known as shunpikes.

Which brings us right back to our hot water argument of a week ago. If you're now putting up with some nondescript way of heating water, man, you're riding the roundabout shunpike. Why not travel the turnpike—with an Automatic Natural Gas Water Heater? Sure you'll pay a toll—in the average home approximately 13¢ a day for hot water for all household purposes.

Ride the high road and live it up! See your gas appliance dealer.

PARTING THOUGHT. When the modern child hears the story of Cinderella he's apt to ask: "When the pumpkin turns into a golden coach, is that regarded as straight income or capital gains?"

Seattle Fires Field Manager

SEATTLE (AP)—Alan Strange, who took over as field manager for the Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast League in mid-season last summer, was notified today he will not be retained for 1960. Strange succeeded Fred Hutchinson July 8 when Hutchinson was named manager for the Cincinnati Reds. Seattle was in last place then and in seventh place at the season's end.

Fullmer Is Seeking 2nd Win Over Webb

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Champion Gene Fullmer's year-old decision over Spider Webb might be taken lightly by bettors when the two meet Dec. 4, in a middleweight title bout in Logan, Utah.

Fullmer, of nearby West Jordan, here Thursday for the 15-round match. It will be Fullmer's first defense of the National Boxing Assn. crown he won in a battle with Carmen Basilio in August.

Fullmer battered out a 10-round decision over the sharp-jabbing Webb here in September 1958. Webb then was unable to get anything permanently damaging past Fullmer's wrap-around crouch.

If Webb has mapped a route past Fullmer's arms, he could come out of the next clash owning the crown.

But Fullmer, a flailing charger until he showed a touch of the fancy dan boxer in the Basilio battle, might not waste into Webb in the same way again.

Promoters will be the International Boxing Club, headed by furrier Joe Dupler, and Norman Rothschild of Syracuse, N.Y., showman for the Basilio-Fullmer match.

LA Gets Record Cut Of $11,231

NEW YORK (AP)—The Los Angeles Coliseum, maligned as a poor excuse for a baseball plant, was looked upon more kindly today by the champion Dodgers and the Chicago White Sox.

The vast structure was the major reason for the World Series rivals splitting a record series' melon of $893,301.40, with each of the three games there producing progressively record crowds of 92,000 plus. The players shared only in the first two of those games.

The Dodgers voted each of 29 players a full share of $11,231.18. The White Sox voted 31 full shares, each man getting $7,275.17.

The previous record for a full share to a winning player was $11,147.90, set by the New York Giants in 1954. The Brooklyn Dodgers of 1956 held the previous high of $6,334.34 for a loser's full share.

The Giants and Cleveland, due to the seating capacity of Cleveland's Municipal Stadium, split $881,763.72 in 1954, which was the previous high for the players' share. The players participate in the receipts of only the first four games.

The split of the players' cut in series' receipts includes 70 per cent for the two participating teams, 15 per cent to the second place teams (Milwaukee and Cleveland); 10 per cent to the third place teams (San Francisco and New York); and 5 per cent for the fourth place teams (Pittsburgh and Detroit). Of the money to permanent winners, the Dodgers got 60 per cent and the White Sox 40 per cent.

Celts Favored As NBA Season Opens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The major league of professional basketball — the National Basketball Assn. — opens its 14th season Saturday afternoon with the Boston Celtics favored to retain their world championship come playoff time in April.

The opening game will be a nationally televised (NBC) game at Boston with the Celtics entertaining the Cincinnati Royals at 4 p. m. (EST).

On Sunday, in another nationally televised afternoon game, the Minneapolis Lakers, surprise Western division champs last year, play host to the Detroit Pistons.

All eight teams take the floor on Saturday, Oct. 24. Detroit is at Cincinnati in an afternoon, televised game. In night games Philadelphia is at New York, Boston at Syracuse, and Minneapolis at St. Louis.

Just as the advent last year of rookie Elgin Baylor sparked Minneapolis to its unexpected victory in the Western division, the appearance in league play of the much publicized Wilt Chamberlain is expected to revive the Philadelphia Warriors.

PUNCHING BAGS—Gloria Adams, a local lass, landed a jolting left jab on the jaw in the second round, but Barbara Buttrick of Yorkshire, England, won a four-round decision in the first boxing match between women in North Miami, Fla.

Thousands of words have been written on the pros and cons of the extended doe season in New York State. And the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County got in a few verbal licks at their October meeting in Walker Valley.

Chairman Frank Hornbeck told representatives of 15 member clubs that information forwarded to him indicated there would be a total of 27,000 doe permits issued among the counties of Sullivan, Ulster, Dutchess and Putnam.

Hornbeck's evaluation of the doe season prospects was rather disenchanted to the Federation members, who are solidly opposed to it. The report did not jibe with what the Federation voted for under the Pomeroy Plan.

The Federation was given to believe, it was pointed out, that the plan was originally designed to alleviate deer damage to fruit orchards. It was projected at the time that a state employee would survey the orchard and determine the number of deer to be killed to rid such damage. The plan, Federation members insist, has deteriorated into a "post season deer season."

Norm Woodbury offered a resolution that a telegram be sent to St. James Matthews instructing him to oppose the manner in which the deer seasons are being handled and to protest the fact that the Federation was not notified in time about an open season on wild turkey. The motion was unanimously carried.

The Eternal Argument

Whether the Federation's action will have any serious effect on the post-season setup is problematic. But it is symptomatic of widespread resentment among the hunter in the field against the theories on game management propounded by the armchair nimbards in the State Conservation Department.

A recent communique from the Department, however, was rather adamant in supporting its theories. It said, in effect, that it had the cold figures on deer starvation and that unless the herd was depleted in sporting fashion, the ravages of hunger would destroy thousands upon thousands of deer the hard way.

The argument has been raging for several years now and in only one area will we risk an opinion. For a long time we were bombarded with mail warning us to gird for the Armageddon of slaughter, devastation and chaos that would accompany the doe season. It seems there had occurred an unfortunate experience in Greene County when a doe season was attempted several years ago.

Came the first doe season in Ulster County and you could almost cut the apprehension and gloom with a knife. State and local police agencies prepared for the worst. Farmers and rural folks battered down the hatches, moved their pet cows and horses out of danger—and waited for the bombardment. It never came, of course, and our recollection of the day, gleaned from several chilling hours at the checkpoint at the Thruway entrance, was that the "doe season" had proved a colossal flop and a greater bore than the recent Dodge-White Sox series. The only ones who suffered were the prophets of gloom and doom.

Since the argument between the game biologists and the man in the field is highly inflammable and tends to become emotional, it is not a subject to be treated lightly. However, in view of the prevailing tendency to control all modes of living and thinking by scientific formula, we have an idea it's going to be awfully tough trying to beat those guys with the test tubes.

A Fish Finder

A Waltham, Mass. firm has introduced a small portable device which even a tyro in the smallest of boats can use to fishing holes and big fish. It consists of a fathomometer six inches in diameter and weighing less than five pounds. The fishing aid sends out ultrasonic signals which fish can't hear. When the boat passes over a large fish, red flashes appear on the dial. The device will run for a season on its own self-contained battery and can be used even in a rowboat or canoe. Wonder how it works on the electric eel?

Texas Golfer Claims Record For Holes Played

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—James J. Johnston Jr. claims a world's record today as a result of 363 holes of golf in 24 hours.

"I'm not tired. I'm just getting a little sore," Johnston said after his rounds over the 6,101-yard Abilene Country Club course.

He said he broke his own record of 328 holes for long courses (more than 6,000 yards) set in Fort Worth.

Johnston, who says he's a bogey golfer, fired only six birdies. He lost two balls and estimated he walked, trotted and ran 80 miles.

Light was rigged on the course so he could play through the night. Johnston indicated he won't try to break that record any time soon.

Top Games In Upstate Grid Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Can Cornell score on Yale? Will Holy Cross upset Syracuse for a third time?

Those questions will be answered Saturday when the Big Red and the Eli tangle in Ithaca and the Crusaders and the Orange battle in Syracuse.

The four teams are unbeaten this season.

Winless Colgate, meanwhile, will attempt to end its three-game losing streak in its contest against Princeton at the Tigers' Palmer Stadium in New Jersey.

Yale has not yielded a point in its three games. Cornell rolled past Colgate in the season opener, but had to come from behind on successive Saturdays to win its next two games.

The contest, expected to attract a Cornell homecoming-day crowd of 20,000, is rated a toss-up. A Cornell victory would be the 400th for the Big Red in 72 seasons of football.

In 1957, Holy Cross upset Syracuse 20-19. Last year, the Crusaders stunned the Orange again, 14-13, for Syracuse's only regular-season setback.

Syracuse, eight-ranked nationally in The Associated Press poll and best in the nation defensively according to the NCAA, rules a four-touchdown favorite.

Colgate will be minus fullback Bernie Dailey when it meets Princeton, which lost 18-0 last week to Penn. Sophomore Bob Madison will fill in for the injured Dailey.

Close Race Seen In RVW League

There is a four team race in the Rip Van Winkle Bowling League after four weeks of action. Jones Dairy of Kingston has a 7-2 record but has bowled three games less than the teams in a triple tie for second. They are Dutchess Recs of Poughkeepsie, Toupson of Beacon and Arthur Murray of Kingston. They all have 9-3 records.

The Recs have posted the high single (1049) and high triple (3023). Hillar Adamson of Dutchess has a 197 average. Joe Micozzi of Arthur Murray has a 257 solo and John Scolaro of Beacon has a 638 triple.

The standings:

Picks Kingston, 20-14 Hoople Gets Letters Questioning Sanity

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
The Peerless Predictor

Egad, it is hard to believe there are so many men of little faith.

With the football season barely in the toddling stage, a number of readers have already taken pen in hand to cast aspersions on my ancestry. Several poison pen pushers have implied that certain of my ancestors must have been at home in trees, which is their thinly veiled way of saying my predictions are nuts.

But let me ask you, what other selector gave you New Rochelle to topple Kingston? Harrumph! In fact, some of the Kingston fans were so doubtful of the selection that they promised to throw me into the Rondout Creek if the KHS gridders had won the game. Harrumph!

Who else but Amos Barnaby Hoople picked Penn State to topple Army, Cornell to beat Harvard, Texas to nip Oklahoma or Georgia Tech to get by Tennessee? Certainly, my selections were not made in haste but only after due deliberation and some sound thinking. Ahem!

This week you are in for a special treat. With Dr. Inorbit busily engaged in making preparations for the annual homecoming whirl at Spinning U. and Prof. Quentin Zlobotnik still enjoying a vacation, I am making my selections unaided.

Utilizing infallible intuitive power as well as my time-tested formulas, I foresee Kingston whipping Poughkeepsie High, 20-14. The Maroon players are smarting after that loss to New Rochelle last week and will take it out on Sam Kalloch's jungle bunnies.

It will be a long trip for Saugerties as they will fall before the Wappingers Redskins. Ontario will still be without a win as the Rondout Ganders will be rude visitors to the Boiceville field.

On the collegiate front, Army will rebound against Duke, Minnesota will upset Illinois, Oregon will nip the Air Force Flyboys and Auburn will fall to the Georgia Tech wave.

You doubt my predictions? Well, to date yours truly has picked 56 right and had only 24 wrong for an average of a cool .700.

Enough of this idle chatter. Go on with the forecast.

Wings Unbeaten In NHL Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Last season the Detroit Red Wings finished last in the National Hockey League and missed the playoffs for the first time since 1941-1942 campaign. They obviously don't aim to do it again.

They are leading the league with three victories and one tie, with a 2-1 conquest of the Chicago Black Hawks Thursday night their latest achievement.

In the other NHL game the Montreal Canadiens scored four goals in the first period in defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-2, to take over third place.

Two second-period goals by Alex Delvecchio and some spectacular goal tending by Terry Sawchuk brought the Red Wings their victory. Sawchuk has 29 saves, 15 of them coming in the final period to thwart the Black Hawks' bid for a tie.

Four players shared the scoring as the Canadiens piled up their winning score in the first period. Henri Richard, Jean Beliveau, Marcel Bonin and Dickie Moore found the net. Bob Pulford scored the lone goal for the Leafs in the final period unassisted.

Unbeaten Gridders Have Tough Weekend

Associated Press Sports Writer

Fran Curci, a mosquito boat size football player compared to Navy's "22 skidoo" battleguards, leads the Miami (Fla.) Hurricanes against the Middies tonight in the Orange Bowl to open a king-size college football weekend.

Curci, a 5-foot-9 senior, is the hub of a Miami team that has won two of three games, losing last week to Louisiana State, top-ranked team in the Associated Press poll.

The 152-pound quarterback is also the main hope for a revival by the Hurricanes. They won only 2 of 10 games in 1958.

Navy, now 2-2 after winning its first two games, relies on quarterback Joe Tranchini and Jim Maxfield to lead its two-platoon attack.

Utah is at Denver in another game tonight.

Shufeldt Paces Valley Keglers On 211 Average

A 668 series last week has vaulted George Shufeldt to first place in the individual average race in the Hudson Valley League.

The top home average of 223.1 and a road figure of 194.1 gives Shufeldt a composite of 211.8, a point and four pins ahead of runner-up Dick Rhea of Poughkeepsie, who has 210.4.

Nine keglers are shooting 200 or better, five of them from Kingston. Buster Ferraro is hitting at a 208.4 clip; Jake Charter, Poughkeepsie, 206.10; Chris Gallo, 204.8; Tim Bilyeu, Ellenville, 203.7; George Baird, Poughkeepsie, 201.9; Jack Ferraro, 200.5; Bill Lawrence, Kingston, 200.4.

Five Merchants of Kingston lead the league with an 11-4 record, a half game ahead of Jones Dairy.

Will Release 312 Birds Saturday

A total of 312 cock pheasants will be released to Ulster County hunters who are members of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs Saturday between 8 a. m. and 12 noon at 57 Elmendorf Street.

In reporting to the October meeting of the Federation, chairman Frank Hornbeck of the Game Committee, reported a total of 1,323 pheasants released in Ulster County in May, July and August. The birds ranged from six weeks to twelve weeks of age. Altogether a total of 2,075 state and Federation birds were made available to Ulster County.

Grossi Champion
Tom Grossi won the Champion of Champions title in the Federation's annual trapshoot at Walker Valley. Al Taber was second, followed by individual champion; Bruce Mauro, junior champion; Walker Valley retained the team scratch title and Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club the team handicap crown.

Chet Joy praised the camps Gov. Rockefeller has proposed for the rehabilitation of underprivileged youngsters. He felt so that youngsters from New York City can learn conservation and at the same time aid in some of the stream improvement problems in the Catskills. There will be five of these camps in the state and a resolution was adopted authorizing Joy to write to the governor requesting that one of these camps be located in Ulster County.

Literature was made available opposing the barge canal give-way amendment and urging sportsmen to vote No on Amendment No. 6. A motion was made and seconded that the Federation forward one dollar for each member club to the Conservation Council to fight the amendment.

Mike Spada brought up the subject of back tags for small game hunting; a sore spot among state hunters this season. A lengthy discussion followed on the advantages and disadvantages of this tag. The November meeting will be held at the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club.

Quebec Aces Win First American League Games
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Quebec Aces, a new addition to the American Hockey League this season, have just about erased any thoughts they would be easy marks for the other six clubs.

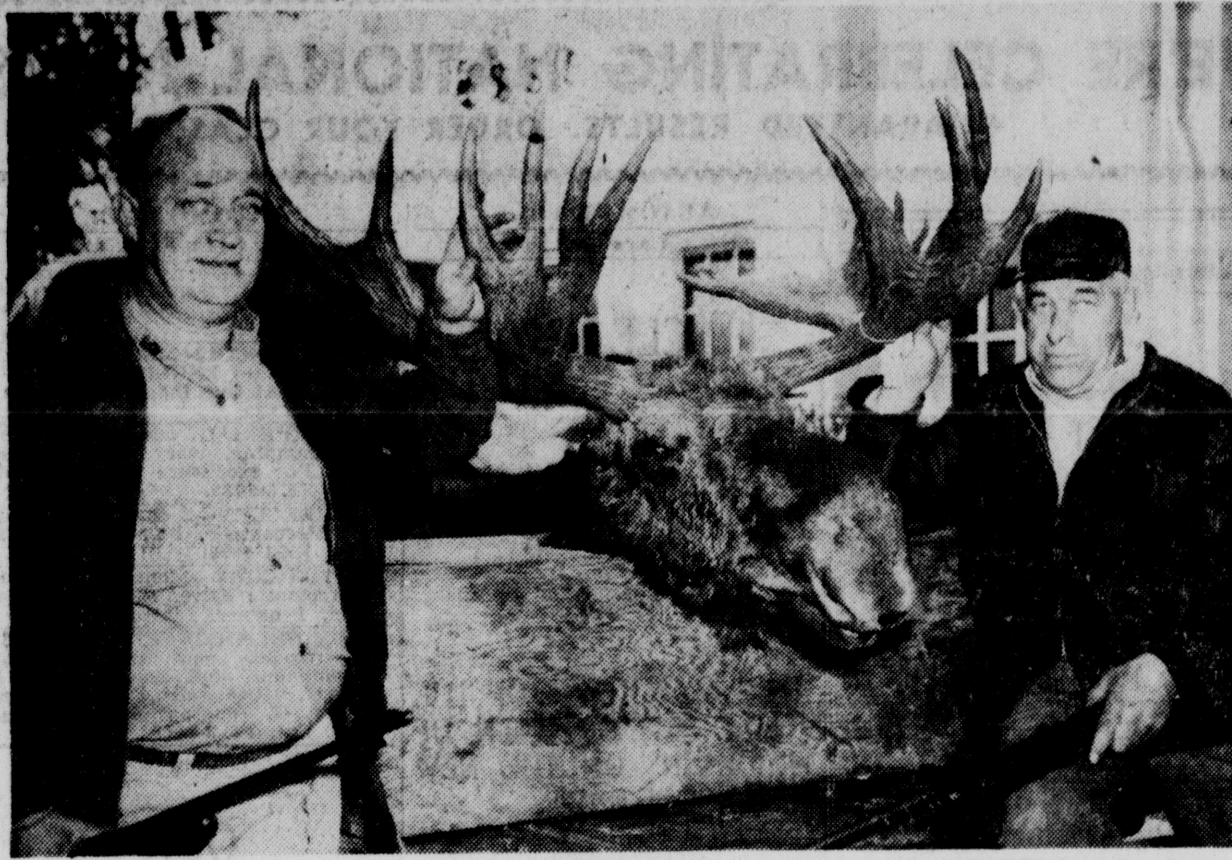

Last year, playing for Chicoutimi in the defunct four-team Quebec League, the Aces finished third. When Quebec joined the AHL, the Chicoutimi team was purchased almost intact.

The Aces have dropped four games to their new rivals but Thursday night shutout the Cleveland Barons 4-0 to move into a tie for third place with Springfield at four points each.

Maglie Feels He Can Still Hurl in Majors

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Sal Maglie, the former National League pitching star who hasn't been happy coaching in the minors, says he will try for the majors next year—as a part-time pitching coach and relief pitcher.

"I think I could still earn my way as a bullpen pitcher," he said Thursday.

At any rate, Maglie added, he will not return to the St. Louis Cardinals farm system as a pitching coach. Sal traveled 24,000 miles after the Cards dropped him from their active player roster last April.

It wasn't very satisfying, said Maglie. The kids did what he told them as long as he watched them, but slipped into their old ways as soon as he left.

The right-hander, now 42, was the mainstay of the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers staff a few years ago.

Action Begins In Cadet Hockey
Action in the Kingston YMCA Cadet Floor Hockey League started last weekend with the Knicks and the Rangers playing to a 2-2 tie, the Streamliners whitewashing the Tigers, 7-0, and the Fireballs topping the Falcons, 4-1.

Team captains are Larry Flowers, Knicks; Jack Baltz, Streamliners; Stewart Sharot, Rangers; John Senor, Tigers; John David, Fireballs; Don Beesmer, Falcons.

Flowers was the hero for the Knicks as he sank a cross shot with 16 seconds left to play to give his team a tie.

Baltz had five goals and Wayne Edge had a pair for the Streamliners. Larry Short and John Davide had two goals each for the Fireballs and Sharot had a pair for the Rangers.

NFL Hoping to Add Four Teams Next Year

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—The National Football League is making every effort to add four teams to its 12-team structure—two each in 1960 and 1961, the president of the Detroit Lions revealed today.

"But all the mechanics and cities are yet to be decided," said Edwin J. Anderson, Lions' president-general manager.

NFL clubs voted 11-1 this week for expansion, he said. Anderson listed Boston, Dallas and Houston as the strongest possibilities, with Buffalo, Miami and Louisville also in the running.

The Detroit Free Press said flatly today the two Texas cities would be added to the NFL next year.

"The cities have not been picked," Anderson said. "We've just decided to expand—nothing more has been decided."

"How we'd give them players, alignment and many other problems remain to be settled."

The matter most likely will not come to a vote until Jan. 26, when the league holds its meeting.

The newly formed American Football League already has announced intentions to operate in 1960 with Dallas and Houston holding franchises.

FOOTBALL
by Red Grange
Questions: What constitutes roughing the passer? — Glenn Hatch.

Answer: This is a judgment call. If the referee deems a defensive player has started a tackle against the passer before he has released the ball, or too late to check the tackle, and is committed, there is no penalty. If, in the judgment of the referee, the tackle was started after the ball left the passer's hands, or could have been checked, it is ruled roughing and a 15-yard penalty is invoked.

Q—Where did Mike McCormack, the 250-pound Cleveland Browns' tackle, play college football? —Oscar Perth.

A. Mike McCormack is considered by many to be the finest player Kansas produced during the Big Seven era from 1948 through '57.

Attendance Good At Rail Show; Ends on Sunday

Attendance at the Hudson-Champlain Railroad Exhibition this week has been good, according to Walter W. Phillips, president of the Kingston Model Railroad Club Inc., sponsors of the week-long show.

Tonight and Saturday night from 7 to 9:30, and Sunday, Oct. 18, from 2:30 to 9:30 are the remaining times for public attendance at the exhibition, located next to the New York Central freight house at 541 Broadway with automobile entrance from Pine Grove Avenue over Susan Street.

President Phillips commented on the reception of the public to the new scenic details which form the background for the operation of the miniature railroad system. He said that people seemed to be "amazed at the detail incorporated in our scenery," and were well-pleased with the operating displays of railroad equipment constructed by members of the local club.

Rosendale Crash Results in Injury To Two Youths

Two area teen-age youths were injured Thursday evening in a two-car collision on Main Street, Rosendale, when the windshield of one of the vehicles clouded up.

Reported in fair condition at Benedictine Hospital today were Leonard Lafera, 16, of Rosendale, and Herbert Holmann, 17, of Box 237, New Paltz.

Prooper George Gaine of the Kingston state police reported that a 1950 sedan operated by Holmann was proceeding in a westerly direction on Route 213 with a 1956 sedan operated by Edmund B. Ruffner, 19, of High Falls, following behind.
